

Industrial Home Children Picnic At Watson Hollow

The little folks of The Industrial Home had another delightful picnic on Thursday afternoon, when the children, whose special protectors they are, took the youngsters, members of the staff at the home and Mrs. John Brown, Mrs. William Van Eusen, Mrs. Frank R. Powley and Mrs. M. T. Jones of the board of managers for the Industrial Home around Ashokan reservoir and had a party at Watson Hollow Inn. Samuel S. Brown is always master of ceremonies at these picnics, and he arrived with some mysterious package, ready to set things in motion for the outing. This time the package contained pretty toy balloons, sent as a gift by A. Hymes. It took the combined efforts of Mr. Brown, assisted by Dr. Hill, Mr. Jersz, Fred Van Buren, William Van Eusen, E. Stanborough and Mr. Desinger to get the balloons inflated, which somewhat extended the hours of anticipation for the children.

They were such a happy, healthy, neatly dressed and well-mannered group of children that congratulations are certainly due Mrs. Dickinson and her staff of assistants. Moreover the children's very evident love for the older members of their family told beyond words how very near a home the place is for all the children who are growing up there.

Besides the autos of the above mentioned gentlemen the car of Miss T'Pole, night nurse at the home was also to take the happy party for the afternoon's outing. Twenty-four very happy children went, and for the four tiny tots who were too small to go a special party at the home was arranged by Mrs. Brown and her assistants.

Arriving at Watson Hollow Inn, Mrs. Elizabeth Bussing made the visitors very welcome and for some time the children had a merry time playing out of doors. This year, as it was so cool, Mrs. Bussing had arranged for the picnic supper in the picturesque dining room, and even had a cheerful wood fire burning in the big fireplace.

The long table was most attractive with tiny bouquets of goldenrod, queen's lace and foliage and a gay garland of each place, the bouquets being the gift of little Dorothy Bussing, daughter of Mrs. Bussing, who gave each child a little box of candy which was taken home.

And what good things they had to eat, three kinds of sandwiches, delicious leek cakes, milk to drink and lots of it and finally some good ice cream with chocolate sauce over it.

From the minute that the little folks took their places at the table and sang their simple grace with bowed heads, until they left for a final romp out of doors, their behavior was something to be truly proud of.

The final good time of the afternoon before the happy ride home, was a magic show given by Fred Van Deusen, as only Mr. VanDeusen can give such an entertainment for children, being still possessed of the heart of a boy himself.

With good byes to Mrs. Bussing and all the children and their Shriners friends, and enthusiastic thank yous for such a good time, the party came to a happy end before supper time at the home.

NAME OF DR. ECKENER NOT IN THE GERMAN "WHO'S WHO".

Washington, Aug. 30 (AP).—The name of Dr. Hugo Eckener, world-circling commander of the Graf Zeppelin, is not in the German "Who's Who."

Dr. O. C. Kelp, German charge d'affaires, made that discovery while trying to check a date of his famous countryman's record.

Through the great volume, "Wer-ists," he thumbed in vain.

"I am not surprised," he commented. "It is certainly characteristic of Dr. Eckener's great modesty not to have his name in 'Who's Who'."

Many Lost When Passenger Ship And Tanker Crash

Old Ship That Featured Low Rates Sinks in Five Minutes—Death List May Reach 65—Most of Passengers From Los Angeles.

San Francisco, Aug. 30 (AP).—Radio advices from two rescue ships indicated that 65 persons may have perished with the sinking of the coastwise passenger vessel San Juan, 30 miles south of here early today. The rescue ships reported they had picked up 35 of the 100 passengers and crew.

The San Juan went down in five minutes after colliding with the Standard Oil tanker S. C. T. Dodd off Pigeon Point, Cal. Although one side of the Dodd was stove in she lowered her boats and went to the rescue of the passengers and crew, who were pitched into the sea as the San Juan sank.

Another ship, the Manami, turned from her course nearby and aided in the rescue work. Several hours later the Dodd was on her way to San Francisco with 27 survivors, some of them badly injured. The Manami had taken eight others aboard and was standing by, looking for those who may have remained afloat after the ship sank.

Radio accounts of the rescue indicated, however, that the chances for many of the 65 unaccounted for persons were slim, due to the speed with which the San Juan sank and the fact that darkness and confusion handicapped the rescue workers.

The San Juan left San Francisco last night for Los Angeles. She was an old vessel of about 1,700 tons and featured low rates for travel between the two California cities. Most of the passengers were from Los Angeles.

Survivors aboard the Dodd said they saw Captain Adolph F. Asplund go down with his ship. A heavy fog had hung over the Pigeon Point area since yesterday afternoon.

Ralph Hillman, second radio operator of the San Juan, who was picked up by the Dodd, reported the collision occurred while he was asleep. He sprang from his berth and ran to the main deck. The deck was sinking beneath the surface, and he was hurled into the sea.

Hillman said no lifeboats had been launched from the San Juan.

San Francisco, Aug. 30 (AP).—Officers of the Los Angeles and San Francisco Navigation Company, owners of the San Juan, announced their advices indicated forty-four of the 100 persons aboard the San Juan had been rescued.

The company's report indicated that thirty of the survivors were aboard the S. C. T. Dodd. Ten others were said to be aboard the steamer Manami and four more were reported picked up by motorship Frank Lynch.

R. G. Johnston Takes Over Ferry Street Building

Awning Manufacturer Purchases Three Story Brick Building at 36 Ferry Street and Will Occupy Entire Building for His Growing Business.

One of the most recent changes in the business section downtown is the purchase of the three-story brick building at 36 Ferry street by R. G. Johnston, the awning manufacturer. For a number of years the building had been used as an office by the Central Hudson Steamboat Company which was later taken over by the Hudson River Steamboat Company.

The building purchased by Mr. Johnston was for many years used by B. Morse Tremper as a wholesale flour and feed store and afterward by the late Mayor Morris Block as a dress factory. For the last few years it had been the Kingston office of the steamboat company, who used the first floor for office purposes, the upper floors being vacant.

Mr. Johnston's business is one of the oldest in this section of the city, having been established by R. G. Stoneham of Albany, as a branch sail-making shop in a building located near the foot of Canal street. When the building was destroyed by fire, about 1881, the business was continued on the fourth floor of the building on Ferry street now owned and used by the Kaplan Furniture Company, under the name of Johnston Brothers, who moved to the ground floor of 34 Ferry street in the late nineties.

On account of the steady growth of the business Mr. Johnston found it necessary to have more space and will occupy all three floors of his recently purchased building.

Dances at Ruby Hotel.

The regular Saturday and Sunday night dances will again be staged Saturday and Sunday evenings at Ruby Hotel. The dances will be held under the auspices of the management of the hotel. Ruby has grown quite popular as a summer resort and it is anticipated that a large number of the summer guests will turn out for these pre-Labor Day activities. As in the past, Eddie Rowe and his jazz band will furnish music. The public is cordially invited to attend these dances and a good evening's entertainment is promised. Refreshments will be served.

Feud Gun Ends Vow of Vengeance

Chicago, Aug. 30 (AP).—Tony Domingo's two-year-old vow to avenge the dramatic death of his wife must remain forever unfulfilled. A feud gun got his range last night.

The violent death of Tony's wife through explosion of a bomb concealed in her automobile was no more sudden than Tony's own. A shotgun pressed against his back; nine slugs in his body; and Tony Domingo, 35, one time "billy cooker" on a little Michigan farm, was dead on the floor of a North Side cafe.

Other diners in the Ogden avenue cafe dropped to the floor or sought shelter under tables. Ralph Bartuli, Domingo's dinner companion, told police he barely had time to leap to his feet when the killing came out of the place.

Detectives were unable to connect Domingo with any Chicago gang activities; but a newspaperman with a good memory recalled how Mrs. Tony Domingo had died in St. Joseph, Mich., during the fall of 1927, and his story today starting officers on a new line of investigation.

Mrs. Domingo received a telephone call at her farm home one morning in October, 1927. Who called or what the message was, police never learned; but Mrs. Domingo immediately went to the garage, started the motor of the family car, and drove away.

A mile from home, there was a terrific explosion that demolished the automobile and killed the woman. Parts of the car were blown 500 feet, and fragments of Mrs. Domingo's clothing were found on the topmost branches of nearby trees.

An infernal machine had apparently been hidden under the automobile hood, a wire running from it to the manifold. When the manifold became hot, the wire melted and the explosive was set off.

The theory of sheriff's officers was that the bomb had been intended for Domingo himself, possibly because of his connections with the sugar "alky" manufacture. Domingo himself undertook to find the persons responsible and take care of them himself; but so far as records show he never succeeded.

STATE FAIR OPEN UNTIL ENDURANCE PLANE LANDS

Syracuse, Aug. 30 (AP).—J. Dan Ackerman, director of the New York State Fair, announced today the fair will remain open until the Empire State Standard, seeking a new refueling endurance record over the fair grounds, lands. The fair was scheduled to close tomorrow.

"The state of New York sponsored this chapter in the history of aviation," Ackerman said. "Interest in the flight, which always was high, was tripled within the last few days. That interest will steadily increase as the flight goes on. We feel that it behooves us to follow through. Therefore, the state fair will continue after Saturday night and until the Empire State Standard lands."

Beginning Sunday morning, Ackerman said, only the main gate of the fair grounds will be open for admission. The majority of concessions will remain, it was indicated, and enlarged parking space will be provided.

LINDBERGH FORGOT TO POSE BUT MADE GOOD LATER

Cleveland, Aug. 30 (AP).—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh has made friends with the newspaper photographers. He astounded an observation tower full of them at the National Air Races yesterday by walking the length of the dusty field and asking a "photog" if he wanted to make a picture.

"I promised to pose yesterday but I was so busy I forgot about it," Lindbergh explained. "I'm sorry; if you want to make some pictures today go ahead."

The dumbfounded cameramen recovered, grabbed their bags and made off across the field after climbing over each other getting down the ladder. Then Lindbergh posed before a navy fighting plane before taking the air to stunt for the spectators as leader of a "V" formation of the famous "high hats".

Killed for Enforcing Traffic Law

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 30 (AP).—S. S. Rogers, Mecklenburg county rural policeman, and H. L. Luquire, a cotton mill worker, were killed early today in a gun battle at Paw Creek, 19 miles from here. Luquire, according to Jenks Biggers, Rogers' partner, opened fire on Rogers and Biggers when they halted him as he turned his automobile in the business section of Paw Creek. Rogers was struck in the abdomen and died in a short time. Firing from the ground after he had been struck, Rogers shot Luquire through the heart.

Smith Will Head Company to Erect Largest Building

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith has announced that he will head a company to erect the largest building in the world, an 80-story skyscraper, on the site of the old Waldorf-Astoria Hotel at Fifth avenue and 34th street.

The structure, to be known as the Empire State building, will tower above the street nearly 1,000 feet—equivalent to the length of five city blocks and about 200 feet higher than any existing building in Manhattan, Mr. Smith said.

It is to be completed in a year and a half at an estimated cost of $50,000,000. Sixty thousand persons will be housed at one time in the building, according to the plans, which call for a frontage of 200 feet on Fifth avenue and 425 feet on both 33rd and 34th streets. It will contain 34,000,000 cubic feet of space and 2,000,000 square feet of wall space.

The Woolworth building, reigning monarch of the skyline, has 60 stories that rise 792 feet into the air. The Chrysler building still under construction, will have 67 stories, 508 feet high, when completed.

As president of the Empire State Building Corporation, the former Governor will be in executive control of construction and maintenance and operation of the building, he said. The New York World today quotes a friend of Mr. Smith as saying he will probably receive $20,000 a year and a stock interest as salary.

In Mr. Smith's last business post as chairman of the board of the United States Trucking Company he received $50,000 a year. He gave up that salary to resume the governorship at $10,000 a year.

Robert C. Brown, vice president of the Chatham and Phenix National Bank and Trust Company, is vice president of the building corporation.

The directorate of the corporation includes Louis G. Kaufman, president of the Chatham and Phenix; Ellis P. Earle, president of the Nipissing Mines Company; Pierre S. DuPont, chairman of E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company; John J. Raskob, financier and chairman of the Democratic National Committee; Colonel Michael Friedsam, president of B. Altman and Company; and August "Heckscher" philanthropist and real estate operator.

The new passengers are John W. Schnitzer of Froid, Montana, president of the First National Bank of Froid, member of the Republican national committee, and owner of an airplane himself; R. L. Bogan of 133 Water street, Syracuse, N. Y., general manager of a bread company; and Edward P. Frost of New York.

Hoachim Rickard of Boston and Madrid and Helma Von Eschwege-Lichtert, German news representative, came from Friedrichshafen to Lakehurst in the Graf, made the world flight, and now will return to Germany in it.

The protocol and other documents in which will be registered the results of the conference will be ready for approval this evening, and the conference will adjourn sine die about noon tomorrow.

Several matters will be left to future action. Among these were the proposed international bank of settlement; the reparations problem as it affects the successors to the Austro-Hungarian Empire, and the final accounting for private property sequestered and sold.

These matters will be handled through the various chancelleries as far as possible and will be liquidated finally when the parties to the Hague conference meet again to ratify the Young plan and complete organization work of the bank.

Dr. Eckener Took "The Quiet Spot"

Takes Down Most Gorgeous Suite in Washington's Most Luxurious Hotel—Thanks President for American Cooperation.

Washington, Aug. 30 (AP).—On the outermost edge of Washington, Dr. Hugo Eckener, 60-year-old master of the Graf Zeppelin, world-circling dirigible, obtained his hard-won reward of peaceful sleep before arising early today to fly back to New York.

The commander of Zeppelin was given his choice of the "most gorgeous" suite of Washington's most luxurious hotel, or a quiet room in the secluded home of Dr. O. C. Kelp, German charge d'affaires.

"I'll take the quiet spot," said Dr. Eckener.

He had earned it. Twenty-one days, 7 hours, 33 minutes of tension and tumult had preceded his strenuous triumphal return Thursday. Motor-throb and siren-shriek, mile-consuming glidings over the uninhabited wastelands of earth and stops amid the pandemonium of crowds, speeches, photographs—life moved to a swift tempo for Dr. Eckener.

With characteristic thoroughness, he tied up all the tag ends of his trip before he allowed himself to rest. He paid his courtesy call on President Hoover and expressed his gratitude for the cooperation he received from America. He thanked the navy for its weather reports, and for the manpower in the Zeppelin ground crew. He visited the secretary of state.

Down long corridors of government buildings he briskly stepped, an erect and purposeful figure.

But in the comfortable home at the pavement end, he relaxed at last, and basked in the brief respite between the end of his pioneering and the beginning of his "developmental era" in lighter-than-air craft. He had engagements with American financiers in New York today, planned to spend Saturday and Sunday at an estate on Long Island, and then leave for Akron, Ohio, stopping at Cleveland en route.

Dr. Kelp's hall porter, he sank into a comfortable chair. He quickly reminisced on his trip over a simple supper with Dr. Kelp, Dr. E. Bar, and Baron W. Puttitz, all of the German embassy. He smoked a good cigar. There is no smoking on the Zeppelin.

At 6:30 he took a bath and immediately went to bed in a corner room with broad windows overlooking the Wood and the Kelp gardens. It was a room wherein stood a little crib bed, belonging to Dr. Kelp's 2½ year old son, Albrecht, now in Germany. Dr. Eckener soon was sleeping as peacefully as ever baby Albrecht slept in that room.

ONE KILLED, ONE INJURED, IN AIRPLANE CRASH.

Philadelphia, Aug. 30 (AP).—Frederic H. Strawbridge, Jr., student aviator, a member of an old and prominent Philadelphia family, was in a hospital today recovering from injuries received in an airplane crash here in which his pilot, Charles F. Stewart, Germantown, Pa., was killed.

Strawbridge, who began a course in aviation only recently, had gone up with his pilot shortly before dark last night. They were returning when their plane was seen to plunge in a nose dive. It crashed near the flying field.

Stewart died before reaching the hospital. Strawbridge is under observation for a possible fracture of the skull.

Great Welcome For Dr. Eckener In New York City

Hugo Eckener, commander of the world circling dirigible Graf Zeppelin, was brought to New York shortly after noon today to be accorded a tumultuous welcome.

As he landed at the battery from the city tug Macom, which brought him from the Jersey shore, the navy dirigible Los Angeles soared overhead.

Dr. Eckener had flown from Washington, where he paid his respects to the president yesterday, to Lakehurst this morning. He was then brought to New York for the same sort of reception that has been given other noted fliers, with a parade up Broadway through the noonday thousands of office workers and an official welcome at City Hall.

At the Battery Dr. Eckener and Lady Grace Drummond Hay, the only woman to make the round the world flight, spoke briefly into a microphone of the National Broadcasting Company which was broadcasting the reception over a countrywide hookup from points of vantage along the line of march.

As the procession moved up Broadway there was the usual tribute of torn paper and ticker tape floating from the lofty windows of skyscrapers in the financial district. It was Dr. Eckener's second experience of this paper snow storm, he having been given an official reception last year after the first ocean crossing of the Graf.

Glances at Los Angeles.

Dr. Eckener cast an occasional glance upward at the Los Angeles, which he flew to America in 1921 when it was turned over to this country as a reparations payment. The Los Angeles was returning today from the air races at Cleveland.

Crowds lined the sidewalks all the way from the Battery to City Hall and every window was filled with the heads of office workers. Police were stationed with linked arms at the Battery and at 10-foot intervals along Broadway to City Hall.

At City Hall Dr. Eckener was presented a scroll in which Mayor James J. Walker referred to the air navigator as "the ambassador of sublime courage to the entire world."

"We of New York," the scroll read, "who have greeted so many of the brave, delight to honor you for a deed that, rising high above the very spirit of adventure, opens our eyes to the transportation possibilities in the future of the world."

Lady Mary Heath Improves After Her Operation

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 30 (AP).—Lady Mary Heath of Ireland, one of the most outstanding of women pilots, lay in Lakeside Hospital today awaiting outcome of a cranial operation performed last night after her plane crashed through the roof of a factory building, fracturing her skull and inflicting other injuries.

Possibility of infection, present for 36 hours after such an operation, still kept her in danger according to attaches at the hospital. She showed improvement immediately after the operation was performed, however, and her chances of complete recovery were reported good provided she escapes infection. No danger of paralysis or blindness was seen. Lady Mary was in the operating room more than three hours.

The noted aviator, who made the most daring flights of all women entrants during the national air races Tuesday, was landing at a test field near Kirk, 26, a Cleveland mechanic. As she neared the edge of the field the plane struck a wire to a chimney of the Mill Company. The plane was jerked sharply around and plunged through the roof.

Kirk lost a finger and suffered minor injuries. He admitted that he was hazy about the crash, but said Lady Mary was flying full power. At the field, however, it was said she had turned off the motor to repeat practice landings for the "dead stick" contest landing at a mark without power at the races. The event was called off.

BERRY PICKER FOUND DEAD IN SHACK NEAR ELLENVILLE.

The investigation was caused by rumors of a fight, ending in a violent death, but were proved to have been without foundation as far as the dead man was concerned.

Three arrests were made in the city on Thursday. George L. Levin of Albany, was fined $15 for speeding 35 miles an hour on Broadway; Steve De Broskie of Philadelphia, was given a suspended sentence for panhandling on Wall street, and Frank Wood of Washington avenue was discharged when Edna Hopper failed to appear to press a charge of assault against him. She accused Wood of slapping her face.

Palestine Nears Peace; Excitement Continues in Cairo

Journal m. Aug. 30 (AP).—Palestine today gradually approached tranquility with the strong arm of the British Military enforcing peace where for three days turmoil and racial strife reigned.

There was continued desultory fighting in the less populated sections. Looting went on even in Jerusalem and danger from marauding tribes of Bedouins from southern Palestine and trans-Jordan still existed.

Looters caught in the act were ordered shot forthwith by court-martial. The Palestine Arab peasantry—who fear the wild Bedouins almost as much as do the Jews, brought their children as hostages of peace to the Jewish labor settlement, Kibbutz Anavyan.

The Jewish colonists were deeply touched by the sign of friendliness, which served somewhat to cool the passions roused by stories of Arab atrocities on Jewish girls and youth in other parts of the Holy Land.

Today, the Moslem Sabbath, was looked upon as a critical moment. With Mussulmen gathering in their mosques. With the passing of the day it was believed the situation would grow better steadily.

There were continued scattered disorders.

The Jewish telegraph agency correspondent reported there were new disturbances yesterday at Safed but that details still were lacking. His information was that during the past two days more than 200 Arabs and 40 Jews were arrested by the British authorities.

Excitement Continues.

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 30 (AP).—Excitement over the Moslem Jewish controversy in Palestine continued today in neighboring districts. Demonstrators and police clashed in Damascus yesterday and a number of persons were injured while further demonstrations took place last night in Beirut, Tripoli and Tyre. At Beirut shops are still closed and a manifesto was issued calling for another demonstration after prayers today.

Trade is dead in Palestine and Syria and prices are soaring.

SAYS "BAD BABIES" NOT SO BAD, SUES FOR $50,000.

Los Angeles, Aug. 30 (AP).—Nineteen detectives who provided a spectacular finale for the comedy "Bad Babies" at a local theatre here Wednesday night by arresting eight principals of the cast and the stage manager, today were facing a $50,000 damage suit brought against them by George Snarborough, author-producer on behalf of the cast.

The "Bad Babies" players were taken to jail and released later under $500 bond each. They were charged with presenting an indecent play. Last night, apparently fearless of the authorities, the actors presented the comedy and left the theatre undisturbed. William J. Clarke, attorney representing the players, said the arrests of his clients were made without warrants and declared he would seek a federal court injunction if necessary.

FLOODS IN NORTH, CHOLERA IN SOUTH, SCOURGE INDIA.

Bombay, India, Aug. 30 (AP).—The division of the Sind, beset by the flooding Indus in the south and a cholera epidemic in the north, presented a deplorable and pitiable sight today.

Railway lines were not functioning, roads were impassable, and it seemed one calamity was succeeding another.

The rivers Sute! and Indus poured down a huge volume of water today and record damage was feared. While complete destruction of as many as 100 villages was expected the Sind Commission warned all district offices also to be prepared for a more dangerous flood.

Forced Entrance Into Buckingham.

London, Aug. 30 (AP).—Special Police were sent from Scotland Yard today to investigate the capture just before dawn of a man who had forced an entrance into the Buckingham Palace grounds. Ithaca, N. Y.—Photographs are likely to deceive. Pictures of six men who made high scores in an intelligence test and of six who made low scores were shown to 253 men and 350 women by Dr. Richard S. Uhrbrock of Cornell. The bright fellows were adjudged dull and the stupid ones clever, in the main.

Activities at Powell Field

Activities at Powell flying field over Labor Day are expected to draw a crowd. Mr. Powell has arranged for a new Travelaire plane to be at the field on Saturday, Sunday and Monday. This is a plane of the same type as was flown about town some time ago, attracting attention by its fast flights. The plane which will be at the flying field over Labor Day is a new one and is fully covered by insurance. Emerson H. Powell, local aviation promoter, says the plane carries insurance protecting passengers in flight and this should be an attraction to those interested in aviation, not that there is any liability of need for insurance as the plane will be in charge of an experienced pilot, but as a safeguard to the public.

The hangar which has been under construction by Milton Walker near the field has been completed and is now in use. Guide signs have been painted on the roof as an aid to aviators.

For the past couple of days a new plane has been seen in the air. This plane left Newark for Detroit but stopped off at Kingston for minor adjustments and alterations before continuing its flight.

ON REARING CHILDREN from CREB TO COLLEGE

Vacations by motor for the whole family are becoming more and more popular. They have a fascinating flavor of out-of-door adventure about them, and camping never fails to appeal to grown-ups and children alike. This may also be an inexpensive way to take a holiday. If there are small children in the party, motor camping is rather strenuous work for their elders, but it has its compensations in the children's frequent expressions of delight over sights on the way and the novel manner of living. The hard phases of the experience may be almost entirely eliminated if proper preparations have been made beforehand and if adults will adapt their plans to meet the needs of the children.

What is education? It is the absorption of facts concerning how things work. It is the observation of cause and effect. It is the experience of meeting unusual circumstances and mastering them. Take a youngster who lives on a farm and see how his experiences—his everyday life—measure up to these definitions. In the early spring he sees his father get out the machinery, the plows, the planters, the drills, nowadays the tractor as well. When the frost has left the soil he sees the plows rip it up, leave it black and gleaming, fertile and rich-smelling in the April sunlight. He sees it harrowed and smoothed, sees the corn and the wheat sown in its warm, black loam. He sees the first shoots and watches the blades grow into lush stems. He sees the reapers go into the fields. He sees the life cycle of the grain from which his bread is made. This is just one example of all that the country boy sees and learns. The city boy's education seems superficial in comparison.

The infant mortality curve of ten to twenty years ago started high, deaths being frequent during the first month after birth—then stepped down quite rapidly to a level that was still far from low through the remainder of the first year and the second year; after this, it settled gradually to a fairly low level. Deaths in the summer months were mostly from diarrheal diseases, though all our present-day causes were intensively active, also (except the automobile). It is a different story now. The mortality curve starts fairly high at birth, and shortly after, though lower than in former days, then it gradually drops, and keeps dropping in a fairly smooth curve to school age and automobile accident time.

One of the best means of amusing your youngster is a toy. A toy is the kind with a wooden handle and a light-weight rubber swatter which bops delightfully when waved in the air and makes a joyous "smack" on the floor. An aluminum disc, smoothly finished, but not enamelled, holds the baby's collection of toys at night and serves as a drum in the day, while a shoe-bag, fastened on the side of his middle-cop, makes a welcome receptacle for toys, both the pin and the bag teaching him the lesson of taking objects out of something and putting them back.

Ribbon Choker Collars Among Paris Novelties

Little dog collars of metal ribbon with jeweled fastenings are shown among recent Paris novelties. They are not meant for dogwear but are suggested as accessories with suits and ensembles, particularly with satin costumes.

Another new neck ornament is a double row of beads with a heavy tassel of the beads fastening at the side. There is a short silver or gold chain connecting the tassel and lower end of the beads.

Happy Thought

If men would only take the chance of doing right because it is right, instead of the immediate certainty of the advantage of doing wrong, how much happier would their lives be.—E. H. Baylen.

THE INDIVIDUAL CRIMINAL.

As advanced modern physicians have found that they should treat the individual patient as well as his disease, so the civic reformers are beginning to demand that the individual characteristics of the criminal should receive attention as well as his crime. This latter subject was discussed at a recent session of the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Virginia, the chief speakers agreeing that a public hitherto under the impression that they all got off will now have to admit that five sentences are at least better than none.

According to a contributor to Plain Talk there have been 144 sessions of the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Virginia, the chief speakers agreeing that a public hitherto under the impression that they all got off will now have to admit that five sentences are at least better than none.

THE "CITY OF PEACE."

The news of bloody violence in Jerusalem calls to mind the long and stormy history of the "City of Peace" as it was called even before the Israelites under Joshua conquered ancient Jerusalem. Later it was besieged, sacked and many of its inhabitants carried away captive by the Assyrians and the Babylonians. Later still it passed under the dominion of Persia and then under the harsh rule of Rome. In the seventh century it was captured by the Saracens and became a Mohammedan sanctuary. In 1099 it was stormed and won by the Christian Crusaders, but in 1187 Saladin once more planted the Crescent on its ramparts, and in 1517 it was wrested from the Egyptian Sultans by the Turks, who held it four hundred years. In 1917 General Allenby's English forces broke the military power of Turkey and later by the decree of the Allies, Palestine was set apart as a Jewish homeland, administered by Great Britain under a mandate of the League of Nations. Such in bare outline is the fateful story of the ancient City of Peace—a story not yet ended, for the Arabs still claim Jerusalem and they are four-fifths of Palestine's population. With the shrines of Christian, Jew and Moslem so close together ill-feeling based on religious intolerance is inevitable, and the recent bloody outbreak followed Jewish rites at the Wailing Wall, a fragment of Solomon's Temple, where on Arab-owned ground—devout Jews pray and "mourn" on Saturdays. With such heterogeneous and mutually hostile elements crowded in the City of Peace, Great Britain, the mandatory power, has no small problem on its hands.

PESSIMISTIC UNDERCURRENT.

On the surface Mrs. Willebrandt's "Inside of Prohibition" is hopeful of the ultimate solution of the enforcement problem, but her incidental admissions and parenthetical observations convey the distinct impression that privately she is a pessimist. In one instance she even figures that only about one-fifth of the American people are for prohibition. "I refuse to believe," she writes, "that out of our 100,000,000 population, and perhaps 20,000,000 who believe in by the secretary of state at Albany.

prohibition, 4,000 enforcement agents can not be found who can't be bought." One of her later discouraging remarks has thus been condensed: Two dry agents, operating in a "notoriously wet city," went to a speakeasy and bought a bottle of wine. They put it on their table, but when a waiter appeared and addressed them to be careful with it as one of the men at the next table was the United States Commissioner. They put the wine out of sight, but almost at once the waiter said he had only been joking, that the United States Commissioner was O. K. and came into the place often, and that they needn't be uneasy. They noticed that the Commissioner bought several glasses of what appeared to be whiskey and drank them. Some time later when they wanted to raise a place they got their warrant from this same Commissioner, but when they raided they found that the place had had a "tip-off," and a week later it resumed business. After five raids the place was closed, but the agents were given an address where they were told they could get anything they wanted. They raided the new place and arrested two men, but at three o'clock the next morning these two men were released on bond that had been arranged by this same United States Commissioner in person.

When the long inquest was over Tuesday was a nasty day. Beginning with the shock of discovering the identity of Cousin John, it included the busy business of the Coroner's inquest on Pell, and it ended with two very disturbing incidents.

PESSIMISTIC UNDERCURRENT.

On the surface Mrs. Willebrandt's "Inside of Prohibition" is hopeful of the ultimate solution of the enforcement problem, but her incidental admissions and parenthetical observations convey the distinct impression that privately she is a pessimist. In one instance she even figures that only about one-fifth of the American people are for prohibition. "I refuse to believe," she writes, "that out of our 100,000,000 population, and perhaps 20,000,000 who believe in by the secretary of state at Albany.

Paris Resumes Aspect of Capital

PARIS, Aug. 29 (AP).—As the summer slips away and autumn approaches, Paris is losing its appearance of a great playground and is resuming its aspect as the capital of the French nation.

Even the hotel concierges are beginning to speak their own language.

Not all the foreigners depart, of course, but several hundred thousands of them go home within a few weeks when the green leaves alter their color. That makes a big difference to the eye and the ear attuned to the changing scenes and sounds of Les Grand Boulevards.

Those Frenchmen who provide food, shelter and fun for visitors are counting up the profits, and not all of them are elated. The weather was remarkably good, but the harvest of dollars, pounds, pence and marks was not so good as those of the three previous summers.

Many explanations are offered. Part of the tourists took turned to other lands, not so many Americans crossed the ocean, and of those who did, thousands in whom Paris is an old story merely stopped off here for a little shopping or train-changing enroute to other countries.

The English also were fewer.

Belgium attracted more than one gambling-loving Briton by lifting the ban on roulette, which is not permitted in French casinos.

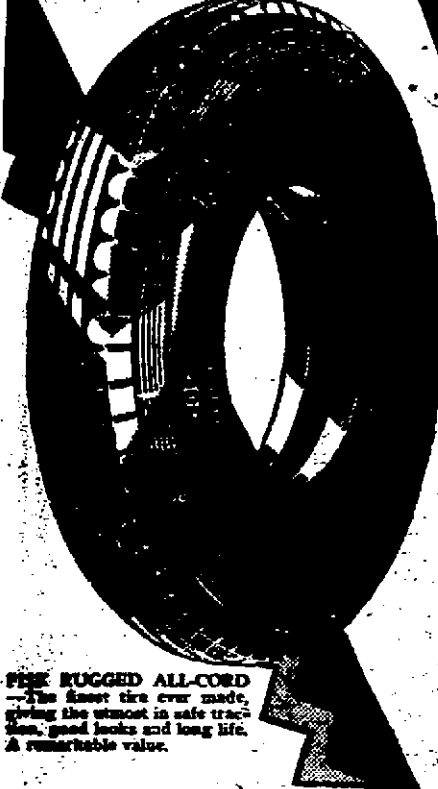

The tourist trade has become such a great factor in French economy that the government is continually being urged to aid in its growth.

Hotel men have been complaining that France doesn't blow her horn loudly enough, especially in the United States.

Kansas established a $40,000 fund for dry law enforcement. Now $10,000 of it has been spent, but the state has collected $12,000 in fines.

BURGULARS LOOT THREE CHURCHES

Lake Placid, Aug. 30 (AP).—Three of the most widely known churches of the Adirondack mountains, located in this village, were broken into a few nights ago and looted of silverware, linens, embroidery and money, amounting to more than $1,000. The churches where the robberies occurred were the Adirondack Community Church, affiliated with the Methodist Episcopal denomination; St. Eustace Protestant Episcopal and St. Agnes Roman Catholic Church.

At St. Eustace Church preparations had been made for a sale and linens and embroideries were locked in one room, with the silverware in locked chests. Police investigation showed that the door of the room had been forced and the locks on two chests of silver broken off. The more valuable pieces of linen and embroidery had been stolen and the others left behind. The poor box of the church also was broken open and a few dollars stolen.

At the Adirondack Community Church the burglars broken open a drawer in the pastor's desk and stole $15, the offerings were removed from the poor box. At St. Agnes Church, the poor box was smashed and the contents stolen.

During the summer the congregations of these three churches are composed largely of visitors from all parts of the country and include a number of nationally known men and women who have summer homes and camps at Lake Placid.

Surveyors Busy Fixing Germany's New Boundaries

Berlin, Aug. 29 (AP).—Ten years after the treaty of Versailles finds surveyors still busy fixing Germany's new boundaries, with some more years of work before them.

Boundary commissions appointed by the allied and associated powers, assisted by a German commission, labored for five years after the peace on laying down the new frontiers. They surveyed and marked about 2,000 miles of German territory along the French, Belgian, Danish, Danzig and Polish borders and in the Saar region. Afterwards the Lithuanian frontier was fixed, but the intricate German-Czechoslovakian still remains to be settled.

A great number of enclaves on both territories have to be abolished or exchanged, and each side is jealously watching lest the other obtain some undue advantage. The final adjustment of the Bavarian-Czechoslovakian and Saxon-Czechoslovakian borders probably will take some years longer.

Polish boundaries were found to be the most difficult of all to arrange, as a whole series of laws had to be drafted governing the control of the Oder, Warthe and Netze basins. Germans bitterly complain of inadequate access to the Vistula and the impossibility of keeping up dike protection for the low-lying land around under the present arrangements, and there is much local antagonism on both sides of the border.

A special treaty with Lithuania became necessary just because a sandbank made it impossible for ships on the river Memel to pass except through a section under Lithuanian jurisdiction.

Much friction has also been caused over the new frontier arrangements in the Eupen-Malmédy region, which was assigned to Belgium. Here a section of railway tracks runs right on the border line, simply extending a free invitation to the smuggling fraternity. Certain roads belonging to Germany ran right into Belgian territory.

Not long ago there was an amusing case of a local inhabitant who was held for trespassing because he had unquittingly sat on a chair, two legs of which happened to stand on the other side of the frontier.

"PHONE PROMISES" IS A PESTIFEROUS SWINDLE

The warning to industrial employees all over the country this week through posters displayed in their places of employment by the National Better Business Bureau, 383 Madison avenue, New York, N. Y., exposes the swindling scheme of selling stock over the telephone to inexperienced investors. The poster is titled "Phone Promises."

In releasing the poster the National Better Business Bureau says that this scheme of calling uninformed purchasers on the phone and selling stock through fraud is operated with amazing success. The bureau finds often that the victim is called by long distance and urged to place an order for stock on the salesman's plea that it is due for an immediate rise in price or that it will be listed on some exchange at a higher price or some other fictitious promise without any basis of fact. The bureau announces that its investigations frequently disclose a close tie-up between these telephone calls and the operators of so-called "tipster sheets" which purport to give reliable and impartial information about a variety of high class stocks but which actually are a principal instrument of the swindler in paying the way for exploiting his scheme.

The bureau cautions the inexperienced investor to closely scrutinize telephone calls to buy stock and to regard with suspicion any such solicitation that hinges on promises of increased value or large dividends.

A bulletin to personnel directors in industries where the posters are displayed reads:

"The unprincipled stock salesman has seized upon another time-honored method of the reputable dealer in securities to foist his stealing schemes on inexperienced investors. Reliable dealers employ the telephone to call their clients and advise them of new issues on the market or to post them on developments that may influence their desire to buy or sell some security. In the same manner the unscrupulous operators of 'tipster sheets' or bucket shops are calling prospective clients on the phone and, with amazing success, are selling their worthless stock or putting over bucketing deals in well-known securities.

"Every investor of moderate experience knows that no reliable brokerage house calls strangers on the telephone urging them to buy some security on advice that it is due for an immediate rise in price or will be listed soon on some exchange where the trading price will be higher. But this, apparently, is not well known by

FORESTRY COLLEGE PLANS FOR TREES ALONG HIGHWAY

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 29 (AP).—A plea for the beautification of our state highways by the systematic planting of trees by the roadsides has been voiced by the New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse University.

A bulletin issued by the college draws a comparison between the unadorned highways of this country and the tree-bordered roads of Europe, which are "a delight to the tourist."

"Inexperienced investors should closely scrutinize telephone solicitations to buy stock and regard with suspicion any such solicitations that hinge on promises of increased value or large dividends."

except for a few memorials and places where civic organizations have planted trees or where the private owner has taken a pride in the appearance of his property. The bulletin continues:

"Probably the best way to establish tree-lined highways is by centralized state control. This would give uniformly systematic design and maintenance to the work. The shade of trees lengthens the service of concrete pavements by helping to prevent extreme expansion and contraction from heat and cold. There is also a direct economy to automobile owners, possibly in tires but surely in the deterioration that sunshine on extremely hot days is liable to cause in the top covering of the cars. In the season when automobiles are most used for pleasure shade is most needed. It is a delight to pass over a tree-shaded pavement where each footstep, sheltering, friendly trees on the roadside greet you on every hand. They are a physical comfort and a visual pleasure."

"No state at present is setting out avenues of trees on its trucking highways. Our modern highways might very appropriately be embellished by avenues of alms or maple, and in some places by what is known as the group planting system. The Lombardy poplar also thrives in our climate and soil. The expense of this work would be partially offset by the increased values to adjoining property owners, by aesthetic improvements, by less pavement maintenance and a slower deterioration of automobile equipment."

Interest is one of the greatest monsters in the world.

Why She Married Him

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

WE CAN'T see why he married her. Why she should wed a man like that.

There are so many things to wonder at. For other folks to wonder at. Why leave the country for the town? Why in the country settle down? Why buy a car, or go without?—Are things the neighbors fret about.

But I know why she married him. He married her. It is the same old reason from a day so dim. We hardly know his year or name: It is the same old hope again. That led all women, moved all men. The heart's long hunger for possess. That fragile thing called happiness.

And time may prove the man was wrong. Another woman dreamed in vain, the city sang a siren's song. The field was not all fruit and grain. Who are we, that you and I should disappear, or wonder why? For happiness the whole world delves; Well, have we found it for ourselves? (© 1929, Douglas Malloch.)

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

By F. A. WALKER

SENSIBLE COMPLIANCE

WHEN you put up yourself in the morning mirror for a momentary look at your fine appearing face, quite satisfied, and perhaps a bit proud of what you behold, go a little farther if possible and look into your soul.

See if that, too, is beautiful, and as satisfying in every way as your beaming countenance and well proportioned body.

If you have shaved and laved as becomes a gentleman, or dabbed your nose and chin with the requisite amount of powder, as sanctioned by fashion, you feel that you are prepared for breakfast, and after that quite ready to rally forth on your customary forage.

And whether this be for work or pleasure, you will find after due consideration that if you wish to succeed in either, you must be sensible and comply with the wishes of those above you.

And especially is this true if you happen to be an employee, subject to powers over which you have no control, save that which is voluntarily given you because of your same compliance with the voice that directs and delivers the final word.

To yield gracefully to the master is to take the first step towards becoming a master yourself.

The general began his career in the ranks; the editor climbed his way up from the rough-and-tumble station of cub reporter; the author started with the alphabet; the painter with the three primary colors and the musician with gamut.

Each one in his or her determined effort to get ahead first sought the key to unlock the door of fame. And each one found it in cheerful allegiance, loyalty, fealty and obedience to his or her superior, faithfully complying through storm and sunshine to authority.

You might as well try to sink a battleship in a tumblerful of water as to imagine that you can attain any worthwhile goal in life without submission to the guiding mind.

And the sooner this truth is accepted, the quicker you will find yourself respected and on the highway that those persons travel who habitually attend to orders.

If you are asked to carry a letter, carry it, and later in life you will be carrying a check-book, whose value no one may know but yourself. Sensible compliance in little things opens the way as certainly to leadership as do the showers and sunshines open the seamy souls of flowers.

FINDS HAPPINESS IN SHARING RICHES

Weekly Man Cuts Down to Moderate Means.

St. Louis, Mo.—Giving away a fortune has provided happiness in the declining years of life for Robert S. Brookings, of this city. Thirty-three years ago Mr. Brookings was a wealthy man. Today he has only a moderate income—because he believes a man can enjoy money more by spending it wisely than by hoarding it. Mr. Brookings is now seventy-nine years old.

The philanthropist began his business career as a shipping clerk at a salary of $25 a month, which was just enough to pay for his room and board. He was promoted time after time until he was high in the employ of a large manufacturing business operated by Samuel Cupples, in St. Louis.

Just 33 years ago Mr. Brookings and Mr. Cupples held one of the strangest conferences in history—the former asking his employer just how was the best way of getting rid of all his money except what he would need to support himself.

The ultimate result of that conference was that Mr. Brookings has organized three institutions for study and research in problems of government, developed a tottering little college into an institution of world-wide fame, Washington university, and devoted much of his time and money to patriotic service for his country. There are hundreds upon hundreds of homes in St. Louis today which are more luxurious than his. But he is happy!

Medal for Aid to Blind Given Vienna Doctor

New York.—The Leslie Dana gold medal for 1929, awarded in recognition of "the most outstanding achievement in the prevention of blindness and the conservation of vision," will be presented to Dr. Ernest Fuchs, of Vienna, at the International Ophthalmological congress in Amsterdam, on September 10. This will be the first time that any other than an American is given this honor. Lewis H. Carris, managing director of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness said in announcing the award.

"Doctor Fuchs charted the way for all prevention of blindness work accomplished throughout the world in the last 45 years," said Mr. Carris. "He did this when he won the prize at the Fifth International Congress for Hygiene at The Hague in 1884 with his essay on The Causes and Prevention of Blindness."

Tappen Camp Testimonial Ball

Final arrangements have been completed for the first testimonial ball to be given by Tappen Camp, 1. Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War, in honor of the living veterans of the Civil War, which will be held in Pythian Hall, Wednesday evening, September 4. The committees have been striving to make this affair a most decided success and a large attendance is assured from the long list of patrons that are supporting this first ball.

Between 8 and 9 o'clock there will be patriotic ceremonies and addresses in honor of the comrades present. The speakers' list is not completed at this time.

At 9 o'clock the music, which will be furnished by Al Mackey and his symphonizers, will commence and old and new dances will be enjoyed by all. This affair is informal and everyone attending is expected to enjoy themselves.

The committees which consist of: Entertainment, William Robertson, chairman; publicity, James M. Krom, chairman; invitation, Joy S. Rosa, chairman; music, Alvin Mackey, chairman, has been augmented by a committee composed of members of Auxiliary 53, who will have charge of the cloakroom and comfort of the veterans. There will be ample refreshments on hand for all who attend.

WASP WAISTLINE IS COMING BACK

Mildly to Face Weeks of Starvation at Command of Fashion.

Paris.—Just a year ago any woman who looked at a picture of her mother in plucking whalebone would have laughed outright, but the wasp waistline of mother's younger days is back, although the whalebone is missing.

Stimulus is the last word from the Rue de la Paix. The waist must be wasplike as in the late nineties. In those days a generous application of whalebone brought the desired effect; today it is obtained by scientific and systematic starvation.

It is no longer considered smart to wear weight or have ample lines. The newest dresses have high waist lines and the waists are indicated by pulling as tight as possible a knotted belt. After many seasons of loose hips the effect is startling, and a very small proportion of women can attain the mode without real suffering.

Days of Starvation.

It takes days of starvation, weeks of point rolling, and months of steam baths to bring back the waistlines to wasplike proportions. The pinch will certainly be felt in the stomach, but the style experts are adamant and insist that by winter the waists around which two hands could touch will be back after an absence of thirty years.

The waistlines started to crawl up last spring, and by now they are really high. If they go much farther they will be above the normal height of the supposed waist.

That is not the only news from the famous thoroughfare which runs off the Place Vendôme. The Rue de la Paix wants women in red, and everything seems to be based on the idea that women must be seen as well as heard.

Never has there been such a run on red dyes. Greens and yellows, which started the season well, have disappeared from the skyline. Only reds are seen where smart women gather. Bathing Suits Extravagant.

There are many other extravagant ideas born with hot weather. Such, for example, as plaited straw sunshades, silk sockettes to protect the foot in the shoe and still leave the limb bare to the cooling winds. Women's bathing garb has undergone a novel change.

Bathing suits are extravagant this summer. They are used to tell the world your preference for blonde or brunette gentlemen. There are many daring costumes being worn at Deauville which carry embroidered adornment in the form of flaming arrows piercing red hearts, accompanied by embroidered mottoes, large or small, depending upon how far the message is to carry.

Some of the mottoes say "Yours all death," or "He's my man," or "A kiss on the cheek waits." There is one at Deauville which tells a lot in a few words, "I can swim, thank you."

Brazil Museum to Seek Primordial Animal Fossils

Rio de Janeiro.—Dr. L. A. Fagundes of the National museum is planning to lead an expedition late this year to Uniao da Victoria, state of Parana, in southern Brazil, to undertake excavation work in search for remains of prehistoric animals.

Fossil remains, one of which resembled the vertebra of a giant beast, were found recently on a farm at Uniao da Victoria, and were identified by Doctor Fagundes as belonging to an American megatherium of the pleistocene or glacial period. The deposit and also some stone utensils believed to be of the paleolithic period, were discovered near the headwaters of the Iguaçu river at an altitude of 900 meters.

Doctor Fagundes said the stone instruments probably are the first of their kind to be found in the Americas.

Three Miners Stunned Twice by Lightning

Mineola, L. I.—Three miners here were the victims of two lightning bolts, spaced only a few minutes apart.

The first hit a tree near them as they were returning to their cabin. It knocked them down and rendered them unconscious. Recovering, they continued their short journey, and just as they entered their cabin, another bolt hit, tearing off the roof, knocking them down again, and showering them with debris. They were uninjured. Karl Anderson, Frank Wright and Robert Tinnery were the miners.

Tombstone Sellers in England Are Aggressive

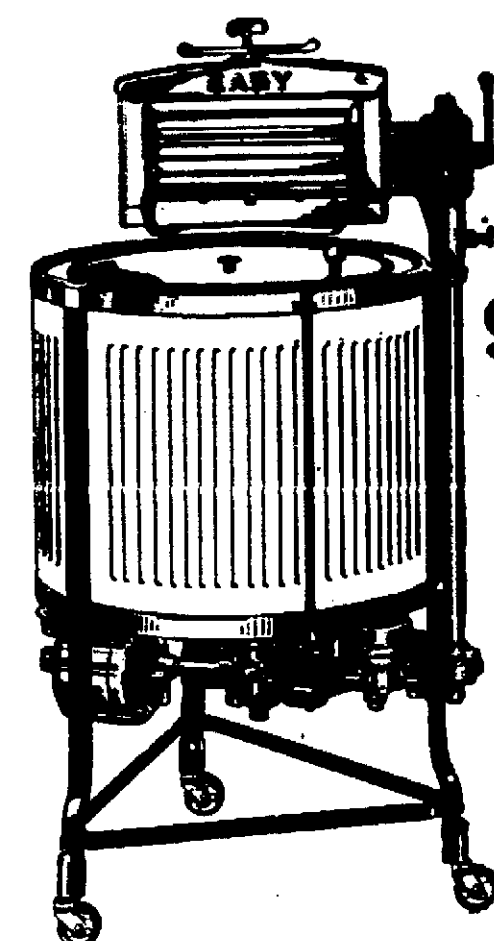

Brighton, England.—The aggressive tactics of a young tombstone salesman have aroused intense indignation in this staid village.

The salesman not only gets "tips" from the obituary columns in the newspapers, but follows funeral processions home and inquires if he can supply a tombstone at a reduced price.

One woman reported that her husband had been buried only a half hour when the salesman called and offered an estimate on a grave marker. The young man, when questioned about the incident, said that competition in the tombstone business had become so keen that he would be beaten out of his commission if he waited a day after the funeral.

Remarkable Railway
 The transcontinental railway from Kalgoorlie, W. Aust., to Port Augusta, S. Aust., covers a distance of 1,002 miles. In its total length the line does not cross a permanent stream of water. With 300 miles without a curve in passing over the Nullarbar plain, it probably holds a record.

Steel Welds Ladder To Power For 7 Sons Of Immigrant Pair

Mansfield, Ohio. (P).—Seven brothers, born to the furnace and rolling mill, are on their way to still more important places among executives in the country's steel industry.

Of ancestors whose iron mongering activities date back to the time Caesar invaded Britain, William H. Albert, Samuel, John, Harold, F. Austin and James G. Davey have lifted the once defunct National Rolling Mills by the bootstraps and are sitting in command of the newly formed Empire Steel Corporation, with a capital of $20,000,000.

William H. Davey, 57, the eldest and the leader, is president of Empire. He has handled steel ever since he was a brawler at 13 in the mills at Gloucestershire, Wales. Three years later his mother, with 10 children and 12 cents, landed in America to join her husband.

She went to Cleveland and William started work in the old United States Steel plant at Dunlo, Pa. Four years later William, the father, and Thomas, a brother, who died 10 years ago, went to Niles, Ohio, where the family gathered.

William's career took him to many plants, and he rose to the superintendency of the Carnegie Steel Company in Canton, then to the vice-presidency of the Massillon Rolling Mill Company.

In the meantime his brothers were ascending the ladder at Cleveland, Niles, Youngstown and other Ohio steel centers. All were working with the hope that some day they would have their own plant. The opportunity came in 1914, when the fires at the National mills died out and the concern announced bankruptcy.

Starting at scratch, every cent they had went into the business. With the aid of Mansfield citizens they bought the bonds of the defunct plant. By 1928 the flames were roaring again.

At that time a widely-heralded merger brought into one corporation the Ashtabula Sheet Steel Company, the Empire Steel Company of Cleveland, the Falcon Steel Company, the Thomas Sheet Steel Company, the Waddell Steel Company, all of Niles, and their concern.

William was made president of the combination. Albert heads the purchasing and open hearth department in the Mansfield works; Samuel the sheet mills outside Mansfield; John the Mansfield sheet mill; Harold the Detroit office, and James the Philadelphia office. Austin is chief engineer.

All of the Daveys are large, muscular and tanned. They are all able to take a turn stripped to the waist in a hot mill. They know the workers' viewpoint and they are trying to "take the backache out of the mills."

bridge has been spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Ed. Vanderyn. Miss Vera Rockefeller and friend, who have been enjoying an extended stay at the Cunningham home on Maple avenue, expected to leave the latter part of the week for Chittenango, N. Y., where they have taken positions.

Miss Mildred White expects to leave here on Friday for Rockville Center, L. I., where she has accepted a position to teach the coming year.

With the 156th At Pine Camp

Pine Camp, N. Y., Aug. 29 (Special).—Kingston artillerymen who make up the three units here under command of Major O. R. Hiltbrant are now thoroughly familiar with their duties as soldiers and are making progress that has impressed Major Sparks, senior instructor of artillery in New York state. It is not all work and no play at camp, however, for the boys say they are enjoying a fine vacation along with receiving valuable education during their summer training period.

There are various diversions here to occupy the time of men not on duty. Wednesday a number of the National Guardsmen visited the State Fair at Syracuse. They enjoyed their trip, which was educational as well as entertaining. Among the interesting things seen at the fair was the refueling of the "Empire State Standard," the airplane which is trying to outdo the 428-hour record made by the St. Louis Robin in its endurance flight. Clyde E. Pangborn and Carl A. Dixon had 50 hours in the air Wednesday when the Kingston men visited the fair.

Among the National Guardsmen who made the 170-mile round trip from camp to Syracuse were Sergeants Edward DuBols, John Reis and Kenneth Van Ethen. They had a very enjoyable time and urged their comrades to see the fair. It is expected that many more of the Kingston boys will visit the fair before it closes on Saturday.

While at the fair grounds Sergeant DuBols and Reis met Corporal Hervey Keator of the state troopers, who formerly was a captain in Company M. The men were glad of the meeting because they had not seen one another since being mustered out of the service after the World's War. Edward Holohean of Kingston, formerly a sergeant in the 156th Field Artillery, now a state trooper, also had a handshake with his old buddies. Both troopers asked to be remembered to their friends in Kingston.

Kingston Boxers Busy.
Although there are many attractions in the vicinity of camp, that can be visited by men on furlough, it is not necessary for the boys to move out of the military reservation to find amusement. Boxing bouts and entertainment are held at the Y. M. C. A. canteen. Every one is on deck for these. Even the regular army soldiers and Citizens' Military Training Camp men on reservations near Pine Camp like to attend the affairs put on by the National Guard.

The Kingston boys do their share of entertaining for the rest of the soldiers. Nick Zinna, star lightweight of the 156th Field Artillery, and a good soldier in Captain E. C. Lawson's B Battery handed out a fine shelling to Paul Weighman, a tough regular of the 7th Field Artillery, Tuesday night. The fight lasted three rounds in every one of which Zinna trimmed his opponent.

There was plenty of enthusiasm shown during the scrap, the Kingston boys cheering for their ring ace, while the enlisted men present shouted in vain for Weighman. So interesting was the fight that there was talk of matching the two for another go. The boys will meet again before camp closes, provided the regular soldier is not transferred.

Other Kingston soldiers who boxed were Charlie Fisher and Pete "Kid" Buckman. This go was an exhibition bout, as none of the men in camp would challenge Buckman after being informed of his knockout record. He and Fisher gave a snappy exhibition that was greatly enjoyed by the soldiers and their commanding officers.

Some of the boys are taking on weight, especially the boxers. Joe Werner, well known to Kingston fight fans, has gained 15 pounds. If Joe had the opportunity to stay at Pine Camp for another month, he likely would be eligible for the heavyweight class. Johnny Carpino and Nick Zinna, former ring enemies, are buddies in Battery B. They are much pleased with their first trip to camp. Nick has developed into a classy rider, while Johnny has become a regular "Tom Mix" in handling the bronchos at the stables. Both should be in good shape for immediate ring work when they arrive in Kingston.

Roy Van Buren and Joe Werner also are among the "cowboys" of the outfit. They are first to arise every morning to help get the horses in shape for their day's work. These two pugilists are partners as picket line guards and do a great deal to keep things cleared up around the stables. Van Buren has been with the artillery for some time and is an accomplished rider. Werner, a new man in the horse outfit, expects soon to be as expert as his partner, who is giving him the "low down" on horsemanship.

The boys who look after the horses have some of the best times at camp. There is plenty of fun at the stables and lots to learn. Sergeant John Roosa, one of the best known horsemen in Kingston, has charge of the boys and helps them a great deal in their study of the animals. Artillerymen are required to know a great deal about their mounts and Sergeant Roosa with his years of experience is the man who can teach them.

The sergeant has had some famous animals under his watchful eye during his years in the horse business. One of his greatest accomplishments while soldiering with the 156th Field Artillery was the training of Cody, world's champion walking horse. Cody is now at the First Battalion stables in Kingston, having been left home from camp for a good reason. Col. R. A. Egan of the 156th took a liking to the champion last year and Major Hiltbrant likely thought that it would be unsafe to take Cody to camp this season.

Sergeant Roosa is not alone a very good horseman, but an expert laterier, too. He has his tent fixed up in comfortable style and enjoys the comforts of a modern home. The sergeant has a regular fancy lamp, etc., that tend to make the officers jealous of his quarters.

First Lieutenant R. Y. Roach, acting commander of the combat train, is working to outdo Sergeant Roosa in tent equipment. He has constructed a small stove from an electrical appliance and an old tomato can, that draws many of the officers to his tent every evening for protection from the chilly nights that are making themselves felt at Pine Camp.

Six or eight woolen blankets save the enlisted men from the chilly air. There is no "kick" about the cold, except in the morning when the boys have to roll out at 5:30 o'clock. They are getting accustomed to it now, though, and their families likely will have a hard job keeping them in bed mornings after their return from camp.

The cooks are the first ones to tumble out. They have not been late once since their arrival in camp and always have a piping hot breakfast for the men every morning. The food is exceptionally good and the men have only high praises for the mess sergeants and cooks.

Men in charge of the camp kitchen are Mess Sergeants Edward DeBols, of the Combat Train, George Hotelag of Battery A and Vernon Styles of Battery B; Cooks John Myers of Battery A, and Lemuel Howard of Battery B. John Green, who is a regular army cook, having served with the 27th Division during the World War, with many other "Kewonsians" has the soldiers "charmed" with his pies and cakes.

Average Net Income Of Farmer Is Set At Little Above $1,000

By FRANK L. WELLES.
(Associated Press Farm Editor.)

Washington, Aug. 29.—No one, not even Uncle Sam, knows what is the average net income of the American farmer, but the bureau of agricultural economics strongly suspects it was not much more than $1,000 last year.

That figure would be hard to prove, as would any figure touching the finances of the farmer as an individual or a class. There are 6,000,000 farms in the United States, each an individual enterprise so independent of even its next door neighbor that there can be no general codification of receipts and disbursements.

However, 11,551 farms have turned their financial records over to the department of agriculture and from them it is deduced that a cash balance of $1,000 represents all the cash the average farm of this group made available to the owner-operator to pay for his living expenses, take care of interest and principal of debts, and make improvements.

The figures may not properly be used as "averages" in computations purporting to apply to all farmers. They are "representative" in the sense that they include large and small farms, profitable and unprofitable; they produce prevailing types of products and are located in all parts of the country in about the same proportions as all farms operated by their owners.

Thus, average gross receipts for the 11,551 farmers reporting in 1923 were $2,508, consisting of $946 from sales of crops, $926 from sales of livestock, $659 from sales of livestock products and $27 from miscellaneous other items.

Average current cash expenses of these farmers totaled $1,518, consisting of $294 for hired labor, $228 for livestock bought, $262 for feed bought, $67 for fertilizer, $46 for seed, $184 for taxes on farm property, $151 for machinery and tools, and $176 for miscellaneous other items.

Receipts less the expenses listed average $1,090, in addition to which the farmer used home-grown food products valued at an average of $269. The value of fuel used and the house rent was not reported. On the other hand, the total of expenses ($1,518) does not include any allowance for the labor of the farmer and his family, which was estimated by farmers at an average value of $765.

Inventory values showed an increase during 1923 averaging $244, which, with the cash balance of $1,090, makes a return from the farm amounting to $1,334.

Bathing Parties Are Spoiled by Peepers

Fenarth, Wales.—Organized "peeping parties" are threatening to kill girls' swimming parties along the Welsh coast.

As there are no bathhouses along the rock coast, females swimmers have been forced to disrobe behind protecting rocks. But of late their privacy has been so rudely interrupted by gangs of "peepers" carrying long-range binoculars that they have been forced to give up swimming.

To meet the new situation the women are begging the authorities to place plain-clothes officers along the beach in order that they may enjoy a dip without being spied upon.

BLAME VODOOISM FOR MAN'S MURDER

Widow Tells of Rites Practiced by Neighbor.

Atlantic City.—Voodooism, practiced among negroes of Africa, the West Indies and southern states, entered the investigation of the death of Joseph London, fifty-eight-year-old retired grocer, whose charred body was found in the ruins of his home at Conover-town after the dwelling had been destroyed by fire recently.

Mrs. Flossie London, twenty-nine-year-old second wife of the grocer, told detectives that Otto Martin, a neighbor, had practiced voodoo rites over her with such success that she believed herself completely within his power. Martin, forty-five years old, is a painter of Mill road, Absecon. His mother hails from a Virginia settlement of negroes, where voodooism is practiced, they say.

"Martin held a terrible spell over me, one that I could not shake off," Mrs. London said. "So strong was his power that it was only through the practice of antidotal voodoo rites that I was finally able to shake it off."

"I went to a voodoo practitioner last year. Under the orders of that practitioner I made a magic potion from tree bark mixed with water and sprinkled it over my hair. That magic dose brought immediate relief. I felt that Martin's spell over me was broken at last."

"When Martin next came to call upon me, I ordered him from my house. That was last August. He has never returned."

Martin told detectives he could not help solving London's death mystery. He admitted quarreling with London a year ago over a trucking business in which they were interested.

Monkey Rescues Pal From Trap of Keeper

Providence, R. I.—The best laid plans of mice and men and Billy Overton "gang" all agley.

One of Mr. Overton's plans went agley the other morning. As he is keeper of the menagerie at Roger Williams park, he has been spending much of his time recently pondering over ways and means by which one might capture a monkey. Several monkeys, once of the park mound but now of more cosmopolitan address, have been wandering at will through the former property of Roger Williams ever since they escaped. Less liked than plucked at the treachery of his pet, Keeper Overton ruminated at some length and then took steps.

A fashionable box, like green with suede trimmings, caught with orange blossoms and sturdy nails, was placed on a prominent hillock close to the monkey mound. Inside was placed a banana, a de luxe edition of a banana ripe, yellow, luscious and otherwise tempting. A sliding door of the box was pulled up so that any monkey chancing by would observe that there was an opportunity to appease the inner monkey in a proper manner.

Night fell as softly as usual, but the day dawned with a crash. One of the first sights to greet Keeper Overton as he appeared for the day's labor was a rapidly approaching young man who flapped his arms wildly, wailing crying, "There's a monkey in the trap, there's a monkey in the trap."

"You wouldn't fool me?" demanded Keeper Overton.

"There's a monkey in the trap, there's a—"

So the two men hurried to the hillock. They arrived just in time to see one monkey dash over to the trap, pull up the door that had descended and release another monkey. The latter, idly brushing banana from his whiskers, scooped away followed by his true friend.

Cat Survives Electric Shock That Kills Man

Regina, Saskatchewan.—Forty-eight hours after it had been electrocuted, a cat taken from the top of an electric pole, came to life again.

Charles Lefrancis, North Portal farmer, who attempted to rescue the animal, was killed. In its fright the cat reached for the high-tension wire, the current passing through its body to the man. Both were believed dead, but now the feline is as lively as ever.

Athletics and Longevity
Physiology of Training says that there is no evidence to show that athletes as a class die young. On the other hand, they live longer than average men in similar circumstances. The occasional notice of the death of some one who has attained prominence in athletics leads to the hasty conclusion that such deaths are of a frequency that evidence does not support.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

Page the Gibson Girl, There is a Summer She is to be Accepted as the Fashionable Figure.

New York.—With Labor Day upon us the summer may be considered sartorially dead. Summer clothes have a bedraggled air, even the new ones as though they were weary of being so much discussed and looked over but the new models beginning to appear in shop windows seem very proud of their waistlines and quite elated over their generally grown up air.

If at first their new lines do not seem to synchronize with contemporary art, it is because they have not been submitted to the mysterious modifications which must surely take place before they are accepted. Students of style seem insistent that it will be a year even before we are ready to accept the fashions as launched by several of the Paris houses, but that they will eventually arrive no one seems to doubt. It seems amusing to hear the new silhouettes likened to the Gibson Girl silhouette and the Harrison Fisher type, yet that is just the kind of comparison that one hears!

There is sure to be rebellion on the part of many women even at the thought of restricted waistlines, but women's figures have ever been curiously adaptable to the vagaries of fashion and women themselves not averse to change. There has been no murmur of dissent because of the lengthened evening dress, and now that they are long all around instead of at the back or side only, it hardly seems that the fashion will be denounced. Skirts are not long, merely longer for street wear, and the great majority are bound to admit that legs have ceased to be a treat and that skirts were too short anyway to add grace to the average figure. Three inches below the knees is still far from long, and this seems the most universally prescribed length with added inches in some cases.

The first fall consideration is a tweed or novelty woolen ensemble with or without fur. Vionnet set the style world buzzing by her presentation of tweed fur-lined coats.
She used caracul and panther for the lining. There is a hint of the figure line in many coats this fall and jacket costumes, or suits if you prefer the more familiar term, also have a nip at the waistline in deference to its acknowledged dressmaker.
Whether the silhouette be of the much heralded silhouette type or on belted and bloused lines there is a decision in favor of the normal waistline.

In line with the aforesaid developments comes the fur jacket if you please, also the short jacket bordered with fur, and with an upstanding fur collar. Brown Persian lamb is the featured coat trimming with a strong predilection for white furs on black coats, ermine and lamb are the usual choice for this combination.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Pretty Summer Frock.
6547. Printed silk was used for this design with facings at neck and cuffs, and belt of crepe. One could use handkerchief linen, printed lawn, light weight woolen or tweed or flannel.
The waist portions blouse attractively above shaped yoke, sections of the skirt portions, which show plain fulness in front. The shoulder lines are long over the top of the arm, forming short sleeves which are finished with narrow shaped cuffs. The V neck is finished with a shaped band.
The pattern for this smart style is

Old Chinese Paper

The first real paper—that is, a sheet composed of fiber—is said to have been made by the Chinese about a century before the Christian era and was made from bamboo and rag fibers beaten to a pulp and then made into a sheet. This process was introduced into Samarkand by Chinese prisoners of war.

Jocular View of Life

Democritus of Abdera, an old Greek philosopher, called the "laughing philosopher," held that life was only to be laughed at.

One of the loveliest evening coats of the past season is this embroidered chiffon dressed with silk on the sleeves. The effect is unbelievably luxurious and feminine.

"I Will Cheerfully Recommend Nu-Erb To Anyone In Doubt"

Main Street Lady Glad to Endorse Powers of Great Herbal Medicine.

"Nu-Erb has done wonders for me and if there is anyone who is in doubt about the claims made for this medicine, I will cheerfully tell them of the splendid results that I have had," said Mrs. Frank Decker, 367 Main St., Poughkeepsie, N. Y., in a recent interview with the Nu-Erb specialist.

"For nearly two years, I suffered agonies with my stomach and kidneys. Food that I ate soured and formed a distressing gas in my stomach after every meal. I suffered from backache, rheumatic aches and pains through my limbs and joints and my kidneys disturbed me several times each night. I was subject to dizzy spells, sick bilious attacks and frequent headaches from which I could get no relief. My nerves seemed to be all on edge. I slept poorly at night and my bowels would not move without the aid of harsh laxatives.

"I tried many different medicines, but there was nothing that ever helped me until I started with the Nu-Erb. This medicine, it seems, is just made for troubles such as mine, for in a very few weeks, it has made me feel like a different person. I seldom have any pain or distress in my stomach now. Although I eat just about anything
I want. My kidneys are apparently in fine shape. I sleep soundly the whole night through and the backache and rheumatism has all disappeared. Nu-Erb has also put an end to the dizzy spells, biliousness and those dreaded headaches. I just feel that there isn't anything that I could say that would praise this medicine highly enough."

MRS. FRANK DECKER.

Dr. French's Nu-Erb cleanses the system of poisonous waste matter and restores the digestive organs to a healthy action. It strengthens weak kidneys, quiets the nerves, drives poisons from the system which cause rheumatism and neu-ritis and banishes headaches, biliousness and constipation. It is pleasant to take and the results are quickly felt.

McBride Drug Store, 312 Wall Street, is headquarters in Kingston for Dr. French's Nu-Erb. Go see the Nu-Erb man now making his headquarters there and let him explain to you the merits of this remarkable medicine.

News from the World on Wheels

Business conditions, as reflected in the increased purchases of higher-priced automobiles, present a most favorable outlook, according to George E. Willis, vice-president in charge of sales of the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Company. Back from an air-mail trip which took him into all of the important cities in the middle west, the south and on the Pacific Coast, Mr. Willis reported that banking and business leaders everywhere shared the belief that the present prosperity would continue.

After winning two records early last spring, only to have them exceeded later in the season, America has regained the 200-kilometer and the 200-mile international records from France, through the performance of an eight-cylinder Graham-Paige on England's famous track at Brooklands. Covering 200 kilometers at an average speed of 93.88 miles per hour, then continuing to complete 200 miles at an average of 92.52 miles per hour, the four-speed Graham-Paige again took title to the international records for these two distances in the class of cars from 200 to 400 cubic inches piston displacement.

In one of the most grueling open road motor car tests ever held in South America, two air-cooled Franklins were among the 14 cars that were able to complete the terrific 2500 kilometer run in Uruguay. Because of the extraordinary power, stamina, and outstanding engine performance necessary to master the difficulties of the route, 46 of the cars that started were unable to complete the grind. The 60 cars that faced the starting line comprised 20 different makes.

PRIMEVAL FORESTS BEING PRESERVED BY GOVERNMENT

Protected Areas Designated to Encourage Research in Wilderness Conditions.

Syracuse, N. Y.—Setting aside wilderness areas is now a current problem with the federal government. One reason why it is a problem is because there are comparatively few suitable primeval forests left, says the New York State college of forestry, at Syracuse university.

The Yellowstone National park was established in 1872, but the principal reasons were its rare scenic features and not particularly its virgin forests. New York state probably was the first to set aside an extensive area of wild land to be kept forever wild because it was wild. This occurred in 1885, when the forest preserve was established, but today there are additional reasons for saving wilderness areas. The romantic wild land idea still persists, but other important considerations are now necessary.

The wilderness areas, being set aside today for the forest service, are as much for research as for the preservation of the primeval forest itself. It is intended that these areas will preserve soil conditions and plant and animal species of great potential value to science which are incapable of surviving under modification caused by the invasion of man and his institutions.

These areas will preserve the conditions under which the early development of the nation took place and which influence the character of our national ideals, traditions and modes of life. The areas will not be smaller than 1,000 acres, which is small enough. Primitive conditions of travel, habitation, subsistence and environment will be maintained and a close guard will be kept against the unnecessary invasion of roads, resorts, summer homes, communities and other forms of use incompatible with the major purpose.

Wilderness preservation illustrates the rapid changes that have taken place. Daniel Boone and his contemporaries would have questioned the sanity of any person suggesting setting aside wilderness areas in order that such places might not disappear, but to be able to walk through a primeval forest is growing to be a rare privilege and it is a source of satisfaction to know that some of the specimens of our former forest grandeur will be preserved.

Russians Will Release Bodies of U. S. Vets

Moscow.—The Soviet authorities are making every effort to locate American graves in the regions where American expeditionary forces took part in the intervention movement and to establish the identity of the occupants of these graves. In the Archangel sector most of the dead were from Michigan and Wisconsin. American soldiers were buried singly and in groups over a large area in both the Archangel sector and in Siberia. Little was done at the time to mark or protect the graves, many of which have no doubt been entirely obliterated.

The local governments at Murmansk and at Vladivostok have been requested by Moscow to report on the whereabouts and condition of American graves in their sections. The first of these reports indicate that the project, suggested by an American veterans' organization, for transferring the bodies home will involve considerable physical difficulties. Of the graves which have been located already only a few are fenced in. In most cases they have been almost erased by neglect. Where groups of soldiers were buried in joint graves it is not always possible to tell even the nationality of the bodies. A foreign office spokesman said that both the Moscow government and the local authorities are prepared to co-operate in every way possible with the United States in the transfer of the bodies.

Cure for Marital Woes

Grand Rapids, Mich.—If your husband beats you, try poetry; some of the sentimentality which surged through his breast years ago may still linger there.

The plan has worked in at least one instance, according to Miss Alice Youlman, chief of the family service bureau, whose job it is to untangle family difficulties. In this case the worker assigned to the case discovered that the husband often cut poems from papers and magazines. She suggested that he try writing poems to his wife.

Pleased with the idea, he tried it and now, says Miss Youlman, he is falling romantically in love with his wife again.

Finds Jade Mine in U. S.;

Believed Used by Mayas
Walla Walla, Wash.—Jade, highly prized stone of the Orient, was quarried in eastern Oregon centuries before the white man came, according to M. J. Ross, Seattle chemist, discoverer of the only mine of its kind in the New world.

The deposit is a vein 1,000 feet long and at least 400 feet deep by from 3 to 20 feet wide. The finding, it is believed, was done by Mayas Indians in their migrations before the time of the Aztecs.

Striking Slogan

Tariff Bills to Have Right of Way

Washington, Aug. 30 (AP).—Interest in driving the tariff bill through the Senate before the regular session begins in December, administration leaders are planning to hold up any other national business except that of an emergency nature.

It is entirely possible for this reason that President Hoover may withhold all but the most necessary nominations until the December session.

However, the names of the newly organized farm board will be transmitted to the Senate next week when it meets for business. While consideration of the board is anticipated there are indications of some trouble. Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, has served notice he wants the board members summoned before a Senate committee for questioning on their plans for helping wheat growers.

Mr. Hoover also has a number of diplomatic appointments to make and several judicial nominations, but in view of the attitude of Republican leaders, it seems likely that he may withhold some of these.

Filling the various diplomatic posts is proving a vexing problem for the president, anyway. More than 500 applications are known to be on file for the prize diplomatic assignments.

While Senator Walter E. Edge of New Jersey, has been determined upon as the new ambassador to France, his nomination is not expected to be forwarded by President Hoover to the Senate until the tariff bill is disposed of. The administration wants Senator Edge on the job for this contest, in which he is a leader by virtue of his place on the Finance committee.

Improvements at Kingston Hospital

The elevator serving the operating room at the Kingston Hospital has been remodeled and a new automatic control elevator installed. All new elevator doors have been placed. A new admission room to the hospital has also been completed at the rear entrance for the admission of patients at the ambulance entrance. This will be a great convenience in receiving patients at the hospital. Plans for the alterations were drawn by Architect George W. Lowe.

18 Apartments on Forsyth Property

Tagging Major League Bases

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The march of Pittsburgh's phenomenal goes on through the dark ages in a stubborn attempt to recapture a vanished hope. It all seems impossible, but this return of Corvair hosts from the grave nevertheless is giving the National League, and all baseball for that matter, the only third of a supreme moment the stretch run of 1929 can know.

The miracle may last no longer, but remarkably enough, it has carried through three games in two days, to the utter amazement of Joseph V. McCarthy and the Cubs. The third Pittsburgh decision was gained by 5 to 4 at Forbes Field yesterday.

The venerable Mr. Jesse Petty held his own so well against nine Bruin batters that the Pirates were able to gain the decision in the sixth when two runs were scored on Traynor's triple, Grantham's double, Comorosky's infield hit and Hemsley's sacrifice fly. Hal Carlson allowed only eight hits to ten by Petty, but was unfortunate enough to see them bunched.

This latest Pirate victory served only to reduce the lead of the Cubs to eleven and one-half games. The Dreyfuss dragons need all the series and that all may be too little, but they at least hope that Brame and possibly Grimes can continue the spurt against Hush and Blake. Then, with the Bruin lead short to nine and one-half engagements, Jewel Eus might be permitted to wonder just how great a miracle was needed to accomplish what would be the greatest of all baseball miracles.

Ril Walker, the young Giant southpaw, flurried with the Hall of Fame at Ebbets Field yesterday when he held the Robins hitless through eight rounds only to see them pick up four blows and two runs in the ninth. The Giants won the game by 6 to 2. Mel Ott helped with his 33rd homer. The Phillies scored twice in the tenth at Boston to nose out the Braves, who came back with one in the home half, by a score of 5 to 4.

The Athletics added half a game to their lead by shading the Red Sox by 7 to 6 at Shibe Park as the Yankees divided two with the Senators at the big stadium in the Bronx. Babe Ruth's thirty-seventh home run enabled the Yanks to save the opener by 5 to 4 after a dramatic drive by Goose Goslin apparently had sewed up the decision. Washington routed Hoyt in the nightcap to win by 8 to 4. Pennock was the winning pitcher in the opener.

Big Ed Morris deserved a better fate in his game against the Macks, but that Red Sox pretense at an infield tell to pieces in the seventh and three unearned runs dashed home before the tide could be stemmed. Jack Rothrock smashed a homer in the fourth with the bases filled. Shores, Quinn and Walberg pitched for Mr. Mack, with Quinn winning.

Ted Lyons continued his rampage by shading the ambitious Indians in Chicago by a score of 2 to 1. Willis Hudlin made the White Sox work for everything they got, but they finally broke down his armor in the ninth. The Browns seized the Cleveland defeat as an opportunity to entrench the St. Louis standard more firmly in third place. Sammy Gray gave eight scattered hits as the Browns defeated Earl Whitehill and the Tigers by 6 to 0.

Walt Black New Gasco Twirler

With the addition of Walt Black to their pitching staff the Gascos have strengthened their pitching department considerably for the coming Industrial League series, which opens Tuesday, September 3. No doubt, Black and Ken Best, Hercules' pitching ace, will hook up in the opener, and if they do, a pitchers' battle can be expected as both pitchers have been turning in good performances all season. The Hercules also have added a new pitcher, Luke Matheia, who played with the West Shore part of the season.

DAWSON WITHDRAWS FROM NATIONAL AMATEUR GOLF

Del Monte, Cal., Aug. 30 (AP).—The withdrawal thus far of twelve of the original field, including Johnny Dawson, one of the top ranking contenders, has cut to exactly 150 the number of prospective starters in the National Amateur Golf Championship over picturesque Pebble Beach.

The hazards of this ocean side course will complete the reducing process in the qualifying competition Monday and Tuesday.

The elimination of Dawson, who scratched his name voluntarily because he chose to resume connections with a nationally known sporting goods manufacturer in preference to an unquestioned amateur status, shared the main pre-battle interest today with the prospect of another attack upon his own record for the Pebble Beach layout by the one and only Bobby Jones.

There is a distinct "Jones complex" in this California resort, spread with fantastic beauty and lavish charm along the rocky shores of Monterey Peninsula. It apparently will be a bigger shock to California than it would be to Georgia should any unexpected events keep Bobby Jones from winning his fifth championship.

Nevertheless, the golfing clan manifested keen regret over the removal of Dawson, who was the big American threat in the British Amateur Championship this year and whose play in practice here justified the expectation he would be a serious threat to the champion.

Priority for all vehicles coming from the right has proved a failure in France and cars on main highways now have the right of way.

All-Stars Have Two Stiff Games

The Kingston All-Stars have two hard games over the week end when they play the Ellenville nine at that place on Sunday afternoon and the Harlem Valley State Hospital club at the latter's diamond on Labor Day.

Neither of these teams lost a game this season but the All-Stars are in hopes of putting the first black mark on their record. Ellenville will have Quick, the southpaw and cream of their pitching staff on the mound. This hurler has been going strong this season and teams that have battled against him have found it hard to hit his deliveries.

The Labor Day game with the Harlem club will mean a great deal to the local boys if they win. A few weeks ago the Kingston team received a 5 to 4 trimming at their hands with Landau, Columbia University twirler on the mound for the Harlem aggregation. This college boy but in spite of the fact the local men will try to turn the tide. Jim Volker and Ken Best will be on hand to take the hill for the All-Stars.

Flyer Loses Engine 600 Feet Up; Finds Safety

Philadelphia.—Fast thinking saved the lives of two navy air men when the engine and propeller of their plane broke from its moorings and dropped to the ground when the craft was more than 600 feet above Austin Bell at the Philadelphia navy yard.

Chief Radio Electrician O. E. Williams, realizing the predicament of the pilot, jumped from the plane with a parachute to permit Commander O. W. Erickson, chief inspector at the naval aircraft factory to bring it safely to the ground. Neither flyer suffered injury.

Williams' leap from the plane lightened its rear section to such an extent that Erickson was enabled to control the downward spin of the engineless plane.

Kid Chocolate's Record Unmarred

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—The amazing ring record of Cuba's Kid Chocolate still was unmarred by defeat today, but the smiling negro has found at least one foe who can give him a run for his money.

Through 12 rounds of bristling action, a dazzling exhibition of boxing skill punctuated by sporadic outbursts of toe-to-toe slugging, Chocolate and Young Al Singer, Hebrew idol of the Bronx, battled at the Polo Grounds last night with the final decision going to the Cuban.

So close was the struggle that some portion of the crowd of 45,000 who jammed their way into the home of the New York Giants booed lustily when the decision was announced. Even the judges and the referee failed to agree, two voting for Chocolate and one for Singer.

The Associated Press score sheet gave Chocolate six rounds; Singer four and with two even.

There were no knockouts but there was plenty of action. Against Singer's superior aggressiveness and harder hitting power, Chocolate fought a heady battle. He was content to lay back and kept Singer off with a snaky left until the going got tough. Then he tore in furiously and had the Bronx idol holding on at several stages of the battle.

Singer found little use for his famous right hand with which he knocked out Andre Routis, of France, the featherweight champion.

Chocolate outgeneraled him the whole way, tied him up effectively in the clinches and had Singer swinging wildly at times. Despite a weight deficit of nearly four pounds, the dusky Cuban was the stronger at the close.

Although neither seemed at any time to be in any particular danger of a knockout, there were not a few moments when it appeared that a few more blows to the right spot might cut the fight short and send one or the other home a victor by other than the decision route.

In the fifth the Cuban caught Singer with one right to the chin that nearly felled the Bronx lad and in the eighth a right uppercut forced Al to hold on while his head cleared.

On the other side of the picture, Singer unleashed two brilliant attacks—in the second and eleventh rounds—that had Chocolate back peddling and a bit shaky and uncertain.

In the twelfth and final round, Chocolate staged a furious rally that had Singer on the ropes.

Chocolate weighed 125 pounds; Singer 128 1/2.

The "gate" was in excess of $200,000, the biggest purse any division lighter than the lightweights ever has drawn.

SLEEPS DURING RACE IN OUTDOOR MOTOR BOAT

Three Lakes, Wis., Aug. 30 (AP).—Racing in little outdoor motor boats may be breath-taking for some, but it causes no increase in Miss Shirley Reay's pulse rate.

Miss Reay fell asleep during a race yesterday and covered three extra laps before the judges could tell her the event was finished.

BUCKY JARRED BY "HIGH HAT" CRACK

Athletic Fans Badger Harris for Alleged Slur

Bucky Harris probably is just as well satisfied that his latest visit to the enthusiastic playground of Connie Mack's pennant-garbed Athletics is all over.

Bucky seldom makes mistakes but Philadelphia critics believe the Detroit manager "pulled one" when he gave an interviewer the impression that he thought the Athletics were becoming a trifle "high-hat" over their present high estate in the American league race.

Harris insists he intended to give no such impression. As he pointed out, he had given the A's all due credit for making a great race. Yet the populace was quick to leap upon him in the accustomed fashion while the Athletics were quick to jump upon the Tigers. Bucky left Philadelphia after four days of "razing" from the stands and the Tigers departed with four straight defeats plastered upon them.

An incident of the series involved an attempt to present Harris a stiff "topper" on the field but the Tiger pilot, suspecting a ruse, refused to emerge from his dugout when the gift-bearing fans requested his presence on the field for a ceremony. The uproar was great nevertheless.

It was recalled that during the heated political and baseball days of 1928, Philadelphia partisans presented a brown derby to Babe Ruth, who somewhat discomfited the authors of the joke by immediately donning the headgear and even going so far as attempting to go to bat with it. Few attempts of either fans or players to embarrass the Bambino have ever been successful.

More than $50,000 will be spent preparing Lake Placid for the Olympic games winter sport program.

Entries Indicate A Record Meet

Much interest is being manifested in the approaching professional automobile racing meet, to be staged at the Kingston Driving Club's track, Labor Day.

Never before in the history of dirt track auto racing has such a galaxy of registered A. A. A. drivers entered a half mile dirt track meet, and with the purses hung up no doubt many old scores will be fought out.

Drivers who have entered the Labor Day speed program, must realize that dirt track auto racing is no child's play, as scores of brave pilots have paid the supreme penalty in the past in their devoted worship of the god of speed. Fast, fighting cars, hurtling through the dust lanes, are in imminent danger of an impending crash.

Officials of the contest board of the American Automobile Association have inspected the track and declare it to be in excellent condition. Tons of calcium chloride will be applied to the track, which eliminates the dust hazard. The turns have been roped off, forming safety zones, in accordance with A. A. A. rules, and every precaution will be taken for the safety and comfort of the spectators.

Ted, Lefebvre, Washington, D. C. well known contest board representative, will be referee.

Entries received to date include Paul Bost, Detroit, Mich., who will pilot a Miller No. 34; Johnny Cacace, during Italian pilot, who will be in the wheel of Frontenac No. 101; Dave Evans, Indianapolis, veteran of all registered A. A. A. drivers, Miller No. 46; Art Aspin, Philadelphia, Miller No. 3; Ben Sheppard, Philadelphia, Frontenac No. 33; Henry Tillman, Hudson, N. Y., Hudson Special, No. 20; Larry Beas, Boston, at the wheel of the Miller formerly owned and driven by the late Ray Keech, designated as No. 7; Dick Campbell, Richmond, Va., Fronty No. 77; Jack McClure, Chattanooga, Tenn. No. 100; Roland Ward, Portland, Me., No. 21; Herman Schuch, Los Angeles, No. 1; Lew Johnson, South Bend, Ind. No. 14.

Entries are coming in from every quarter, and all indications point to a record meet, as the drivers and cars entered represent the cream of speedway and dirt track talent of the country.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould,
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

The big golfing trek to the Pacific coast this year, featured by the amateur championship at Pebble Beach, September 2-7, is another big chunk of evidence that the trails of '49 still have much of the ancient lure. The aim for conquest is still the same, even though it happens there are bunkers instead of gold in those hills and valleys now, glory instead of riches as the principal reward, at least for the simon-pure talent.

Later on, the professional clan of the links, after holding its own championship in December at Santa Barbara, can take up the prospecting with assurance of profitable results, to judge from the number of rich purses offered in any number of open tournaments during the California winter campaign.

Sectional pride and prejudice may have a few outposts left in sport but they rapidly are being broken down by such seasons as this, with the two main golfing events of the year, the open and amateur, staged on opposite sides of the continent for the first time in history.

The old barriers which for years kept the big tournaments concentrated along the Atlantic seaboard no longer exist. No longer can the East claim sway in the formerly exclusive sports of polo, golf and tennis. No longer can one section, east, south or west, claim any super-share of the talent, although the far west may have leapt along a trifle faster in recent years.

In the quest for the main honors, the star talent knows no restrictions. Georgia Tech journeyed out to the coast last winter to trim California and now Bobby Jones leads the big attack along the hazardous shores of Pebble Beach. Helen Wills went east to conquer. There will be no barriers left in a football season which will see California playing Pennsylvania on Franklin Field, Oregon traveling 4,000 miles to play Florida at Miami, Red Cagle making his final charge for the Army against Stanford at Palo Alto.

The Amateur Athletic Union was well-organized and functioning 25 and 30 years ago, when Bernie Wefers and Arthur Duffey were among the speed kings of the day. It has survived any number of major battles, including the one that professionalized Duffey and wiped his 100-yard record from the books. It will survive the agitation revolving around Ray Barbuti and Charley Paddock and likely still will be functioning 25 years hence when present-day stars are memories.

The A. A. U. happens to be one of the best organized, most efficient bodies exercising control over amateur sports. The growth of big college groups has restricted some of its old fields of power and influence but the A. A. U. registration card is still the main badge of the simon-pure in track and field sports, swimming, wrestling, boxing and other branches of sports activity.

Two Home Games For Ron

Sunday at the Kingston Driving Club's track, Labor Day. This team has a good record and is classed as one of the best in the Hudson River League. On Labor Day at the local track the Silver and Gold nine will battle with the locals.

The McKinley club Pan-Ams a week ago at them. However, Art Gager of the Ronabouts, do that his own will not be a straight game, and still is no sign for their good playing letting up. Besides, the bat in an effective manner, fielded the ball in a clever, fast action.

Labor Day, the Silver and Gold club from Poughkeepsie will add some stiff opposition. This team made up of the Bridge City ball players. They are classed as one of the best teams in Poughkeepsie and at present are playing series with Freddie Dahm's team for the championship of the Bridge City.

To Disqualify Late Arrivals

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Crews arriving late at the starting line of future Poughkeepsie regattas will be disqualified.

Two drastic rulings, designed to prevent any recurrence of the scene that marred the last classic Poughkeepsie, have been adopted by the board of stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association.

Under Rule No. 1, late arrivals will be disqualified. Under Rule No. 2, any crew stepping the race within seconds after the start for any reason other than actual breakage of equipment will be disqualified.

At the last I. R. A. regatta there were many false starts and the delay of the Cornell shell, was rowed an hour that spectators on the shore could not distinguish one boat load from the other.

In addition, while the other shells waited for Cornell to appear the Cornell became so rough that four of nine shells failed to finish.

Souvenirs From Eden of Eden for Town

If on your vacation you happen stumble into the town of Quana at junction of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers you may not be impressed by the scenery or the city but you soon be informed that it is the Garden of Eden and to prove it you will be shown the "Tree of Knowledge," says a writer in a Washington Star. The tree is merely a decayed trunk with a few scraggy branches and these will soon be cut down, but the natives have thoughtfully planted another tree nearby. This baby will probably do service "the tree" when the older one has perished.

Anyone visiting this locality is assumed to have come to see the tree for there is little else, and the children of the town are eager in their efforts to act as guides to visitors. The new arrival is at once spotted surrounded by the juvenile guides almost dragged to the tree. Arriving on the ground the boys will bound to the branches and offer chips and souvenirs.

Just Another Example of Unrewarded Genius

Manlike, has a habit of ignoring benefactors and allowing his genius to die in want. Benjamin Dancer, died in poverty and blindness in 1841 is a case in point. Dancer, whose name is practically unknown, would be he could survey the world, see of his inventions used untold millions of times daily.

Every time a button is pushed, a bell and the ringing stops, the pressure is released, it is timing up one more for Dancer. He invented the spring electrical contact interrupter, which is the basis of push buttons. This device was used for years on automobiles and in ray machines.

He invented the porous cup used for years in wet batteries. And other things he invented were valuable appliances for research work by scientists.

Tagging Major League Bases

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The march of Pittsburgh's phantom legion goes on through the darkness in a stubborn attempt to recapture a vanished hope. It all seems impossible, but this return of Cincinatti from the grave nevertheless is giving the National League, and all baseball for that matter, the only shared of a supreme moment the stretch run of 1929 can know.

The miracle may last no longer, but remarkably enough, it has carried through three games in two days, to the utter amazement of Joseph V. McCarthy and the Cubs. The third Pittsburgh decision was gained by 5 to 4 at Forbes Field yesterday.

The venerable Mr. Jesse Petty held his own so well against nine Bruin batters that the Pirates were able to gain the decision in the sixth when two runs were scored on Traynor's triple, Grantham's double, Conorsky's infield hit and Hemmley's sacrifice fly. Hal Carlson allowed only eight hits to ten by Petty, but was unfortunate enough to see them bunched.

This latest Pirate victory served only to reduce the lead of the Cubs to eleven and one-half games. The Dreyfuss dragons need all the series and that all may be too little, but they at least hope that Brame and possibly Grimes can continue the spurt against Bush and Blake. Then, with the Bruin lead shorn to nine and one-half engagements, Jewel Ems might be permitted to wonder just how great a miracle was needed to accomplish what would be the greatest of all baseball miracles.

Bill Walker, the young Giant southpaw, flitted with the Hall of Fame at Ebbets Field yesterday when he held the Robins hitless through eight rounds only to see them pick up four blows and two runs in the ninth. The Giants won the game by 6 to 2. Mel Ott helped with his 33rd homer. The Phillies scored twice in the tenth at Boston to nose out the Braves, who came back with one in the home half, by a score of 5 to 0.

The Athletics added half a game to their lead by shading the Red Sox by 7 to 6 at Shibe Park as the Yankees divided two with the Senators at the big stadium in the Bronx. Babe Ruth's thirty-seventh home run enabled the Yanks to save the opener by 5 to 4 after a circuit drive by Goose Goslin apparently had sewed up the decision for Fred Marberry and the Senators. Washington routed Hoyt in the nightcap to win by 8 to 4. Penock was the winning pitcher in the opener.

Big Ed Morris deserved a better fate in his game against the Macks, but that Red Sox pretense at an infield fell to pieces in the seventh and three unearned runs dashed home before the tide could be stemmed. Jack Rothrock smashed a homer in the fourth with the bases filled. Shores, Quinn and Walberg pitched for Mr. Mack, with Quinn winning.

Ted Lyons continued his rampage by shading the ambitious Indians in Chicago by a score of 2 to 1. Willis Hudlin made the White Sox work for everything they got, but they finally broke down his armor in the ninth.

The Browns seized the Cleveland defeat as an opportunity to stretch the St. Louis standard more firmly in third place. Sammy Gray gave eight scattered hits as the Browns defeated Earl Whitehill and the Tigers by 6 to 0.

Walt Black New Gasco Twirler

With the addition of Walt Black to their pitching staff the Gascos have strengthened their pitching department considerably for the coming Industrial League series, which opens Tuesday, September 3. No doubt Black and Ken Best, Hercules' pitching ace, will hook up in the opener, and if they do, a pitchers' battle can be expected as both pitchers have been turning in good performances all season. The Hercules also have added a new pitcher, Luke Mathias, who played with the West Shore part of the season.

DAWSON WITHDRAWS FROM NATIONAL AMATEUR GOLF

Del Monte, Cal., Aug. 30 (AP).—The withdrawal thus far of twelve of the original field, including Johnny Dawson, one of the top ranking contenders, has cut to exactly 150 the number of prospective starters in the National Amateur Golf Championship over picturesque Pebble Beach.

The hazards of this ocean side course will complete the reducing process in the qualifying competition Monday and Tuesday.

The elimination of Dawson, who scratched his name voluntarily because he chose to resume connections with a nationally known sporting goods manufacturer in preference to an unquestioned amateur status, shared the main pre-battle interest today with the prospect of another attack upon his own record for the Pebble Beach layout by the one and only Bobby Jones.

There is a distinct "Jones complex" in this California resort, spread with fantastic beauty and lavish charm along the rocky shores of Monterey Peninsula. It apparently will be a bigger shock to California than it would be to Georgia should any unexpected events keep Bobby from winning his fifth championship.

Nevertheless, the golfing clan manifested keen regret over the removal of Dawson, who was the big American threat in the British Amateur Championship this year and whose play in practice here justified the expectation he would be a serious threat here to the champion.

Priority for all vehicles coming from the right has proved a failure in France and cars on main highways now have the right of way.

All-Stars Have Two Stiff Games

The Kingston All-Stars have two hard games over the week end when they play the Ellenville nine at that place, on Sunday afternoon and the Harlem Valley State Hospital club at the latter's diamond on Labor Day.

Neither of these teams lost a game this season but the All-Stars are in hopes of putting the first black mark on their record. Ellenville will have Quick, the southpaw and cream of their pitching staff on the mound. This hurler has been going strong this season and teams that have batted against him have found it hard to hit his deliveries.

The Labor Day game with the Harlem club will mean a great deal to the local boys if they win. A few weeks ago the Kingston team received a 5 to 4 trimming at their hands with Laddan, Columbia University, twirler on the mound for the Harlem aggregation. This college boy will probably do the pitching again, but in spite of the fact the local men will try to turn the tide. Jim Volker and Ken Best will be on hand to take the bill for the All-Stars.

Flyer Loses Engine 600 Feet Up; Finds Safety

Philadelphia.—Fast thinking saved the lives of two navy air men when the engine and propeller of their plane broke from its moorings and dropped to the ground when the craft was more than 600 feet above Austin, Tex., at the Philadelphia navy yard.

Chief Radio Electrician O. E. Williams, realizing the predicament of the pilot, jumped from the plane with a parachute to permit Commander O. W. Erickson, chief inspector at the naval aircraft factory to bring it safely to the ground. Neither flyer suffered injury.

Williams' leap from the plane lightened its rear section to such an extent that Erickson was enabled to control the downward spin of the engineless plane.

Kid Chocolate's Record Unmarred

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—The amazing ring record of Cuba's Kid Chocolate still was unmarred by defeat today, but the smiling negro has found at least one foe who can give him a run for his money.

Through 12 rounds of bristling action, a dazzling exhibition of boxing skill punctuated by sporadic outbursts of toe-to-toe slugging, Chocolate and Young Al Singer, Hebrew idol of the Bronx, battled at the Polo Grounds last night with the final decision going to the Cuban.

So close was the struggle that some portion of the crowd of 45,000 who jammed their way into the home of the New York Giants booed lustily when the decision was announced. Even the judges and the referee failed to agree, two voting for Chocolate and one for Singer.

The Associated Press score sheet gave Chocolate six rounds; Singer four and two even.

There were no knockouts but there was plenty of action. Against Singer's superior aggressiveness and harder hitting power, Chocolate fought a heady battle. He was content to lay back and kept Singer off with a snaky left until the going got tough. Then he tore in furiously and had the Bronx idol holding on at several stages of the battle.

Singer found little use for his famous right hand with which he knocked out Andre Roucis, of France, the featherweight champion.

Chocolate outgeneraled him the whole way, tied him up effectively in the clinches and had Singer swinging wildly at times. Despite a weight deficit of nearly four pounds, the dusky Cuban was the stronger at the close.

Although neither seemed at any time to be in any particular danger of a knockout, there were not a few moments when it appeared that a few more more blows to the right spot might cut the fight short and send one or the other home a victor by other than the decision route.

In the fifth the Cuban caught Singer with one right to the chin that nearly felled the Bronx lad and in the eighth a right uppercut forced Al to hold on while his head cleared.

On the other side of the picture, Singer unleashed his brilliant attacks in the second and seventh rounds—that had Chocolate back peddling and a bit shaky and uncertain.

In the twelfth and final round, Chocolate staged a furious rally that had Singer on the ropes.

Chocolate weighed 125 pounds; Singer 123 1/2.

The "gate" was in excess of $200,000, the biggest purse any division lighter than the lightweights ever has drawn.

SLEEPS DURING RACE IN OUTDOOR MOTOR BOAT

Three Lakes, Wis., Aug. 30 (AP).—Racing in little outboard motor boats may be breath-taking for some, but it causes no increase in Miss Shirley Ray's pulse rate.

Miss Ray fell asleep during a race yesterday and covered three extra laps before the judges could tell her the event was finished.

Game at Stone Ridge.

BUCKY JARRED BY "HIGH HAT" CRACK

Athletic Fans Badger Harris for Alleged Shur

Bucky Harris probably is just as well satisfied that his latest visit to the enthusiastic playground of Cramble Marks' pennant-garred Athletics is all over.

Bucky seldom makes mistakes but Philadelphia critics believe the Detroit manager "pulled one" when he gave an interviewer the impression that he thought the Athletics were becoming a trifle "high-hat" over their present high estate in the American league race.

Harris insists he intended to give no such impression. As he pointed out, he had seen the A's all due credit for making a great race. Yet the populace was quick to leap upon him in the accustomed fashion while the Athletics were quick to jump upon the Tigers. Bucky left Philadelphia after four days of "razzing" from the stands and the Tigers departed with four straight defeats plastered upon them.

An incident of the series involved an attempt to present Harris a silk "topper" on the field but the Tiger pilot, suspecting a ruse, refused to emerge from his dugout when the gift-bearing fans requested his presence on the field for a ceremony. The uproar was great nevertheless.

It was recalled that during the heated political and baseball days of 1928, Philadelphia partisans presented a brown derby to Babe Ruth, who somewhat discomfited the authors of the joke by immediately donning the headgear and even going so far as attempting to go to bat with it. Few attempts of either fans or players to embarrass the Bambino have ever been successful.

Entries Indicate A Record Meet

Much interest is being manifest in the approaching professional automobile racing meet, to be staged at the Kingston Driving Club's track, Labor Day.

Never before in the history of dirt track auto racing has such a galaxy of registered A. A. A. drivers entered a half mile dirt track meet, and with the purses hung up no doubt many old scores will be fought out.

Drivers who have entered the Labor Day speed program, must realize that dirt track auto racing is no child's play, as scores of brave pilots have paid the supreme penalty in the past in their devoted worship of the god of speed. Fast, feeling cars, hurtling through the dust lanes, are in imminent danger of an impending crash.

Officials of the contest board of the American Automobile Association have inspected the track and declare it to be in excellent condition. Tons of calcium chloride will be applied to the track, which eliminates the dust hazard. The turns have been roped off, forming safety zones, in accordance with A. A. A. rules, and every precaution will be taken for the safety and comfort of the spectators.

Ted, Lefebvre, Washington, D. C. well known contest board representative, will be referee.

Entries received to date include Paul Host, Detroit, Mich., who will pilot a Miller No. 3; Johnny Caccace, driving Italian pilot, who will be at the wheel of Frontenac No. 101; Dave Evans, Indianapolis, veteran of all registered A. A. A. drivers, Miller No. 46; A. Aspin, Philadelphia, Miller No. 3; Ben Sheppard, Philadelphia, Frontenac No. 33; Henry Tillman, Hudson, N. Y., Hudson Special, No. 20; Larry Beais, Boston, at the wheel of the Miller formerly owned and driven by the late Ray Keech, designated as No. 7; Dick Campbell, Richmond, Va., Fronty No. 77; Jack McClure, Chattanooga, Tenn. No. 100; Roland Ward, Portland, Me. No. 21; Herman Schureh, Los Angeles, No. 1; Lew Johnson, South Bend, Ind. No. 14.

Entries are coming in from every quarter, and all indications point to a record meet, as the drivers and cars entered represent the cream of speedway and dirt track talent of the country.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould,
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

The big golfing trek to the Pacific coast this year, featured by the amateur championship at Pebble Beach, September 2-7, is another big chunk of evidence that the trails of '29 still have much of the ancient lure. The aim for conquest is still the same, even though it happens there are bunkers instead of gold in those hills and valleys now, glory instead of riches as the principal reward, at least for the simon-pure talent.

Later on, the professional clan of the links, after holding its own championship in December at Santa Barbara, can take up the prospecting with assurance of profitable results, to judge from the number of rich purses offered in any number of open tournaments during the California winter campaign.

Sectional pride and prejudice may have a few outposts left in sport but they rapidly are being broken down by such seasons as this, with the two main golfing events of the year, the open and amateur, staged on opposite sides of the continent for the first time in history.

The old barriers which for years kept the big tournaments concentrated along the Atlantic seaboard no longer exist. No longer can the East claim sway in the formerly exclusive sports of polo, golf and tennis. No longer can one section, east, south or west, claim any super-shares of the talent, although the far west may have leapt along a trifle faster in recent years.

In the quest for the main honors, the star talent knows no restrictions. Georgia Tech journeyed out to the coast last winter to trim California and now Bobby Jones leads the big attack along the hazardous shores of Pebble Beach. Helen Wills went east to conquer. There will be no barriers left in a football season which will see California playing Pennsylvania on Franklin Field, Oregon traveling 4,999 miles to play Florida at Miami, Red Cagle making his final charge for the Army against Stanford at Palo Alto.

The Amateur Athletic Union was well-organized and functioning 25 and 30 years ago, when Bernie Wefers and Arthur Duffey were among the speed kings of the day. It has survived a number of major battles, including the one that professionalized Duffey and wiped his 100-yard record from the books. It will survive the agitation revolving around Ray Barbati and Charley Paddock and likely still will be functioning 25 years hence when present-day stars are memories.

The A. A. U. happens to be one of the best organized, most efficient bodies exercising control over amateur sports. The growth of big college groups has restricted some of its old fields of power and influence but the A. A. U. registration card is still the main badge of the simon-pure in track and field sports, swimming, wrestling, boxing, and other branches of sports activity.

Two Home Games For Ron

Sunday at the Kingston Grounds the Roadout A. C. will play the McKinley A. C. of New York. This team has a good reputation and is classed as one of the best semi-pro clubs in the Hudson Valley. On Labor Day at the local track the Silver and Gold nine of the keepers will battle with the doubts.

The McKinley club has won a week ago and a week ago. However, Art G. is the manager of the Roadouts, does not think his team will fall in a single attack. The local club has nine straight games, and still is no sign for their good playing letting up. Besides having the bat in an effective manner, field the ball in a clever, fast motion.

Labor Day, the Silver and Gold club from Poughkeepsie will also make stiff opposition. This team made up of the Bridge City baseball players. They are classed as one of the best teams in Poughkeepsie and at present are playing series with Freddie Dahm's team in the championship of the Bridge City.

To Disqualify Late Arrival

New York, Aug. 30 (AP).—Cornell arriving late at the starting line of the future Poughkeepsie regatta will be disqualified.

Two drastic rulings, designed to prevent any recurrence of the scandal that marred the last classic Poughkeepsie, have been adopted by the board of stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association.

Under Rule No. 1, late arrivals will be disqualified. Under Rule No. 2, any crew stopping the race within seconds after the start for any reason other than actual breakage of equipment will be disqualified.

At the last I. R. A. regatta the were many false starts and the start event, delayed by the late arrival of the Cornell shell, was rowed at late an hour that spectators on shore could not distinguish one load from the other.

In addition, while the other shells waited for Cornell to appear the Cornell became so rough that four of nine shells failed to finish.

Souvenirs From Garden of Eden for Tom

If, on your vacation you happen to stumble into the town of Qumran at the junction of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers you may not be impressed by the scenery or the city but you soon be informed that it is the Garden of Eden and to prove it you will be shown the "Tree of Knowledge," says a writer in a Washington Star. The tree is a decayed trunk with a few scraggy branches and these will soon be on business, but the natives have thoughtfully planted another tree nearby. This baby will probably do service "the tree" when the older one has parted.

Anyone visiting this locality is supposed to have come to see the ruins for there is little else, and the drem of the town are eager in their efforts to act as guides to visit. The new arrival is at once spotted surrounded by the juvenile guides almost dragged to the tree. Arrive on the ground the boys will bound to the branches and offer chips and souvenirs.

Just Another Example of Unrewarded Gen

Mankin, has a habit of ignoring benefactors and allowing its genius to die in want. Benjamin Dancer, died in poverty and blindness in 1815 is a case in point. Dancer, whose name is practically unknown, was if he could survey the world, see of his intentions used untold millions of times daily.

Every time a button is pushed, a bell and the ringing stops, the pressure is released, it is time to ring up one more for Dancer. He invented the spring electrical contact interrupter, which is the basis of push buttons. This device was used for years on automobiles and ray machines.

He invented the porous cap used for years in wet batteries. And other things he invented were very appliances for research work by scientists.

Says Garden of Eden

Was in South Africa

New York.—The cradle of mankind, the spot where man came into being as a new species and from which he spread throughout the world, can now be placed with fair assurance in South Africa. It was announced recently by Dr. W. H. F. Peck, assistant curator of the Logan Museum, Urbana, Ill., who returned on the French liner De Grasse from an extensive exploration of prehistoric sites in Algeria.

Pond brought back skeletons and parts of skeletons of 13 individuals, two of whom he is convinced lived more than 50,000 years ago and 6,000 feet and bone implements which he collected from the 47 prehistoric habitations which he excavated. Besides these he found charred fruits which may furnish information as to the character of the vegetation in North Africa 20 to 25 centuries ago.

The wealth of prehistoric material which he found almost wherever he searched in the Sahara strengthened his belief that the scene of the actual "Garden of Eden" might be found in Africa and his investigations just concluded provided much additional evidence. Included in Peck's investigations was a detailed study of the routes which man has followed in his migrations.

True Nobility
If there be no nobility of descent, all the more indispensable is it that there should be nobility of ascent—a character in them that bear rule as line and high and pure that as men come within the circle of its influence they involuntarily pay homage to that which is the one pre-eminent distinction, the royalty of virtue.—Bishop Henry Codrington Potter (1835-1908). Address of Washington.

"Sundowners"
A sundowner student is a slang expression applied to young men and women who attend night classes in colleges or universities, usually holding a position that occupies the day hours. A sundowner, in the manner, is one who works at some other business during the daytime and practices medicine at night.
